2 Navy Yards Among 95 U.S. Bases To Be Closed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional sources said today the Brooklyn, N.Y., and Portsmouth, N.H., Navy yards are among those picked by the Defense Department to be closed.

A well-placed source here said that not only the big Brooklyn naval installation but also two other bases in New York—the Brooklyn Army Terminal which employs about 2,000 persons and Ft. Jay on Governor's Island—also are among the bases slated for closing.

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., announced earlier that the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard also was among the bases to be closed. It is the nation's oldest yard.

Only two weeks ago, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., appealed for continued operation of the Brooklyn yard at a meeting with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. He also met with McNamara to talk about the yard before the Nov. 3 election.

The Brooklyn yard employs about 9,000 to 10,000 workers and New York members of Congress have said a shutdown or job loss there would have a serious economic impact.

About 2,000 work at the Brooklyn Army Terminal.

McIntyre told a news conference at Portsmouth that the yard there would be one of the 95 to be named for closing at a McNamara news conference today. He said it will be phased out over a 10-year period.

The senator said he had talked about the matter with President Johnson and had been assured by McNamara later that the 10-year phase-out time would be allowed.

Simultaneously with the disclosures on Brooklyn and Portsmouth, two Virginia congressmen said no major naval installations in Norfolk, Portsmouth, Va., or Virginia Beach were on the closure list.

The two, Rep. Porter Hardy and Rep. Thomas M. Downing whose district includes Virginia Beach and the nearby area, said they had that word from the Defense Department.

McNamara, in announcing Wednesday that the list would be given out today, said bases in 33 states would be affected and word would go out to congressmen from the areas.

He said a handful of bases to be closed overseas would be identified later.

McNamara planned to advise the Congress members about the same time the list was given out.

Until then, McNamara proposed to keep the list secret. In announcing plans for the cut-back Wednesday, he said it included facilities of all types — "air bases, air depots, Army arsenals, Army terminals, shipyards, etc."

Major controversy has centered on the possibility some of the Navy's 11 shipyards would be closed.

McNamara said two years ago there was excess in the shipyards. Since then he has visited most of the shipyards in trying to decide which could be closed and which could be cut back.

McNamara presented his justifications for the closings at a preliminary news conference at which he made public a 32-page booklet showing how defense installations closed earlier have been put to what he called "productive civilian use."

Attached was a memorandum by President Johnson, which said:

"We expect to receive a dollar of value for every dollar we spend on defense."

"To do so has meant we must eliminate surplus, obsolete, unnecessary defense installations. This has and will continue to be done."

Board Saves $54,284

Syndicate's Bid Taken For Bonds

A $3,380,000 bond issue for construction of four new schools was sold Wednesday night to an investment syndicate headed by the Chicago firm, which also purchased the previous school bond issue 12 years ago.

Acting as a special meeting, the Board of Education sold the issue to Halsey, Stuart & Co. and 12 associated firms on a low rate of 3 1/2 per cent and a premium of $14,567.80.

THREE OTHER investment firms also submitted offers when the bids were opened at noon yesterday with all asking 3 1/2 per cent interest with varying premiums.

The Ohio Co. of Columbus offered a premium of $43,733; John Nuzzen & Co. of New York, $11,405; and Phelps, Fenn & Co., also of New York, $5,543.20.

The difference between the bids of the Chicago and Columbus firms was approximately $25,000 and the difference of one-eighth of a point (12 1/2 cents) will save the school board $54,284 in interest over the 23-year life of the issue, James A. Reaney, executive vice president of the First National Bank, who attended the bid opening, said.

The issue was on the New York market shortly after the bids were opened by Miss Kathryn Liebschner, clerk-treasurer.

When she returned to her office shortly after the bids were opened, Miss Liebschner said she had a call from a New York firm seeking confirmation of the Halsey, Stuart bid.

REANEY SAID he was notified by one of the investment representatives about 4 p. m. yesterday that over $1 million already had been sold with not all reports in.

The bank official said the board was fortunate in getting its bonds on the market now since there has been a shortage of bonds. The school board and its advisors rushed the bond issue to the market so they would be available before bonds approved at the Nov. 3 election could be readied for sale.

Attending the bond opening yesterday were Miss Liebschner, Supt. Paul H. Blair, Harry D. McConville, board president, Mrs. Nessel R. Dunlop and Samuel W. Brown, members of the finance committee, Reaney, Solicitor Joseph W. Cooper, two representatives of the Nuzzen firm and one from each of the other bidders.

The bonds will be dated Dec. 1 and interest will be payable semi-annually on June 1 and Dec. 1 of each year beginning next June 1.

TO ENABLE the school district to meet the interest payments, the school tax rate will be increased 2.7 mills on the 1964 duplicate, County Auditor Kenneth Bell said Tuesday.

That will provide 2.2 mills for interest and five-tenths of a mill to repay the interest-free state loan.

The first payment on the principal will not be made until 1966 with payments of $70,000 on June 1 of each year from 1966 through 1979 and $75,000 semi-annually on all other payment dates through 1988.

Bell said the millage necessary to help meet the principal payments has not been determined yet, but estimated it could run as much as 3 to 3.5 mills more.

The entire tax increase to meet payments on the principal and interest plus the five-tenths of a mill for the state loan will be included on the 1965 duplicate payable in 1966, the auditor explained.

2 Students Kept Out

Truancy Hearing Slated For Beaver Local Family

A hearing was slated today at Lisbon for a Rogers family tentatively charged with truancy for keeping their children from school since the Beaver Local School District bus cutbacks began Nov. 10.

Two of the family's students were absent today, and County Supt. James McBride was to present evidence in Juvenile Court.

A meeting scheduled at Rogers Wednesday night between parents and a Youngstown attorney hired to represent them in the bus dispute was canceled. Mayor Glen Rhodes of Rogers said Atty. Ralph Shwartz of Youngstown notified the group he could not attend because of illness.

Four mothers and about 14 children walked to the Rogers School in a continuing safety escort today.

1,200 More U.S. Troops Sent To Viet

Air Transport Units Also Increased For Fight Against Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States sent another 1,200 military men into South Vietnam this month, officials disclosed today. More American air transport units also have been thrown into the struggle.

The disclosures came less than 24 hours after it was announced that Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor will fly back to Washington to open a sweeping review of the South Vietnamese situation with President Johnson and his top military and diplomatic advisers on Nov. 27.

The additional manpower brings U.S. military strength in the troubled area to about 21,200 — up 5,000 since midsummer, sources said.

Some of the reinforcements have been assigned to the U.S. Special Forces, an elite unit specially trained for guerrilla warfare.

Other U.S. forces have been assigned to beef up the teams of American advisers who are working in the field with South Vietnamese troops.

The additional airpower includes a squadron of U.S. Air Force C123 transport planes and a group of Army C123 cargo carriers.

The airpower is designed to increase the mobility and flexibility of Vietnamese troops in responding more quickly to guerrilla raids.

Season's Normal-Light Snow's Likely

The season is finally catching up with the calendar—the Tri-State District is due for windy weather with rain tonight, changing to light snow or flurries as much lower temperatures move in.

And Friday will be windy and colder with light snow or flurries.

The night's low range will be in the 30's. The downtown had 36 at 7 a. m. as a mist-like rain fell, and the day's high may not go much above that with the cold front developing.

Conference Day Set In Hancock Schools

Hancock County students will be given a holiday Friday so teachers can be free to confer with parents.

Supt. Robert H. Hall announced that Friday has been designated "Parent-Teacher Conference Day."

Students will not attend classes in any of the schools. This will leave the teachers available to meet with the parents.

Any parent who desires to meet with a teacher should schedule the conference, he said.

Warren's Unit Hit By FBI Chief

Blasted As 'Unfair, Unjust'; Dr. King Also Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has blasted the Warren Commission as "unfair and unjust" and called Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. "the most notorious liar in the country."

Hoover boiled over on these and other matters, including lenient "bleeding heart judges," in a lengthy interview Wednesday with a group of women reporters.

He angrily charged the Warren Commission with "a classic example of Monday morning quarterbacking" in discussing its report on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, has said the FBI failed to notify the Secret Service that the assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, was in Dallas last Nov. 22, the day Kennedy was slain.

In New York City alone, Hoover complained, 7,000 persons would have to be taken out of circulation every time a president makes a public appearance if it were deemed necessary to remove "every individual who might threaten the safety of the president."

However, the FBI director said, his office is turning over to the Secret Service the names of "thousands of beatniks, crackpots and kooks."

Hoover appeared before the commission last May 14 and told newsmen after testifying the panel was doing "a very thorough job."

Resumption Of Hancock Recount Due

NEW CUMBERLAND — Recount of ballots in the Grant District constable race of Nov. 3 will resume tonight at the Courthouse.

Police Chief Harold Davis of Chester, with 2,077 votes, and Carl Durham of Newell, with 1,988 votes, are leading the contest for four-year terms.

Glen Logston of Chester, who requested the recount, trails Durham by one vote, and Charles Glendenning is last with 1,797 votes.

A statement was released today by Logston concerning information filed Tuesday at the Courthouse by an attorney for Durham, which indicated Logston would not be eligible to serve, if elected, because of a state law forbidding office to anyone convicted of a felony.

Atty. Edwin Flowers said records show Logston was indicted for breaking and entering the Chester American Legion Post in 1950, to which he pleaded guilty, and in his request for probation, acknowledged a theft at a tavern.

Logston, who was 20 when the offense occurred, said today, "I would like to thank the Democrats and Republicans who supported me in the election."

"If any feel they were deceived, they have my humble apology," Logston said he was told the day after the election that his past record had been discussed in the campaign, and that "if I should win, my family and I would be greatly humiliated."

"I have no hard feelings toward Harold Davis or J. Carl Durham. The truth speaks for itself, but I feel the public deserves a better caliber of officer than those who have gone to the extremes taken since the election."

Child, 2, Dies In Midland Fire Damaging 2 Homes

FIRE VICTIM'S BODY. The body of 2-year-old Jerome Burton, who lost his life in a blaze that swept his home in Midland this morning, was carried to a waiting ambulance after it was discovered in the rear of the ground floor of the home. The victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Burton, 462 Penn Ave. The blaze apparently broke out in the Burton home and spread to the adjoining house occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Pete Maglicia.

Troops Attack Insurgents' Capital

Congo Rebels Ask Talks On Fate Of Missionary

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Congoese troops led by white mercenaries launched their drive on rebel Stanleyville today while the rebel regime there demanded negotiations on the fate of American medical missionary Paul Carlson and other foreigners in rebel territory.

The central government force moved out of Kunda, 250 miles south of Stanleyville, for what they hoped would be a quick seizure of the rebel capital.

Some 200 white mercenaries—mostly South Africans, Belgians and Britons—were believed spearheading between 300 and 500 Congoese troops.

Rebel leader Christophe Gbenye had announced postponement of the death sentence given Dr. Carlson, who had been scheduled to die last Monday, following an appeal from Kenya Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta.

Gbenye told Kenyatta the execution would be carried out next Monday if no basis was found for negotiations on "the prisoners of war" by then.

Gbenye also replied to a warning from U.S. Ambassador G. McMurtrie Godley that the rebels would be held responsible for the safety of more than 60 Americans in the rebel zone. Via Radio Stanleyville, Gbenye said the United States was "held responsible for the deaths of many Congoese."

A U.S. embassy spokesman said there was no indication how or when negotiations might be started.

The assumption in Leopoldville is that Gbenye, who declared the Americans and Belgians "prisoners of war," wants the United States and Belgium to cut off their aid to Premier Moise Tshombe in exchange for his freeing the hostage Americans and Belgians. In Washington, State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said the U.S. government has not put any pressure on Tshombe's government to hold up its drive on Stanleyville until the Americans are taken care of.

McCloskey said: "We will bend every effort that we possibly can to save the lives of these people. We have been trying to get them evacuated for four or five months."

Carlson, 36, of Rolling Hills, Calif., was sentenced to die for spying, Gbenye claimed he was an American army officer. The United States denied the charge.

There have been changes in Dallas since.

The people no longer talk much about the assassination, but it lies deep within them.

"Sometimes it comes unbidden," an executive said. "Maybe when you're shaving in the morning, when there is no reason in the world for you to think about it. It's sort of like feeling an old scar. Maybe it hurts only a little, or maybe it doesn't hurt at all any more—but it's there."

A year ago, questions of personal and community guilt seared Dallas.

Few, if any, in Dallas believe now that the city was to blame, or feel personal guilt. When the Warren Commission report was released, with its comment that the assassination could not be linked to any "climate" in Dallas, newspaper editorials, officials and people on the street said, in effect—see, Dallas is innocent, just as we knew all along.

But the glare of attention had long before made them see something else—that, Dallas had become known as a stronghold of extreme rightwing thought and action. Some had decided to change that.

Boy's Body Found After Tardy Alert

Mother Carries 2 Other Youngsters To Safety Outside

A 2-year-old Midland boy lost his life but his mother and two other children were saved when fire raged through their home and an adjoining house this morning.

Victim of the fire, which was reported touched off by an explosion, was Jerome Burton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Burton, 462 Penn Ave.

The dead child's mother and his brother, John Jr., 3, and a sister, Patricia Ann, 10 months, made their way to safety.

The blaze also raged through the interior of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Maglicia, 464 Penn Ave.

The interior of both homes were damaged extensively. Both are two-story frames.

Midland firemen recovered the child's body about 9:50 a. m. from a spot in the rear of the lower floor of the burned home.

Fire Chief Vincent D'Itri said firemen were on the scene about 20 minutes before they learned that the 2-year-old child still was inside the blazing house.

Maglicia reported he heard what sounded like an explosion in the adjoining Burton home just before the blaze broke out.

The first report of the fire was received at 8:15 in a telephone call to police headquarters from a woman, Chief Ed Steff said.

A neighbor said Mrs. Burton carried her daughter to safety and apparently also rescued the 3-year-old son.

Both the Midland and the Midland Heights fire departments were on the scene.

Midland's department sent an aerial ladder truck and a pumper and Midland Heights sent a pumper.

Although there are homes on either side of the two damaged properties, firemen prevented the flames from spreading.

Firemen said the heaviest damage occurred in the Burton home, although both houses were damaged severely.

The body of the child was located about 9:30 a. m. and about 20 minutes later it was removed from the home.

Firemen still were pouring water on the blaze nearly three hours after it broke out.

Witnesses said the blaze may have started in the kitchen of the Burton home.

The child's body was removed to the Leavell Funeral Home.

Retired Ware Worker Dies

Ira G. Fair, 633 Broadway, a retired potter, died this morning at 12:45 at City Hospital, after an illness of three years. He was 81.

A native of Warren, Pa., he was born Jan. 6, 1883, to Joseph M. Fair and Sarah Jane Parker Fair, and resided here for 60 years. He was a decorator at the Hall China Co. until retiring 10 years ago.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Iva Cornell Fair at home; three sons, Jack L. Fair of East Liverpool, James V. Fair of Fontana, Calif., and Joseph W. Fair of Guilford Lake; a sister, Mrs. May Beck of Lakewood and five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by the Rev. Charles Little, pastor of the First Free Methodist Church. Burial will be in the Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday.

C. F. Dallas
Crimmie F. Dallas, 927 Minerva St., a World War I Army veteran, died Wednesday at 7:20 a. m. at the Veterans Administration Hospital in Butler, following a brief illness. He was 67.

He was born in Freedom Feb. 28, 1897 to the late John D. Dallas and Mary Elizabeth Smith Dallas. He resided here for 40 years and was a retired used furniture dealer in East Liverpool and Wellsville. At one time he was a city employee until 1948.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Byrdie Hood Dallas at home; two sons, Nelson A. Dallas of East Liverpool and Maj. Leonard Dallas, stationed with the Air Force in Scotland; three daughters, Mrs. Ruby Allison, Mrs. Mary Thompson and Mrs. Alma Rose Chesnut, all of East Liverpool, and eight grandchildren. A son, James E. Dallas, died April 27, 1959, and a daughter, Mrs. Helen Wawrzyniak, Dec. 3, 1963.

Services will be held Saturday at 3:30 p. m. at the Dawson Funeral Home by Dr. A. K. Davison, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Columbiana County Memorial Park.

Friends may call at the funeral home Friday.

After Extended Illness

Mrs. Roy D. Moore Dies; Services To Be Saturday

CANTON — Death came Wednesday at 6:15 p. m. to Mrs. Roy D. Moore, whose husband was one of the founders of Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc.

Mrs. Moore died at Aultman Hospital here, terminating almost six years of illness.

Mrs. Moore's health was impaired in February of 1959 by a severe heart attack while on a visit to Jamaica. A month later, after returning to her Congress Lake home, she was incapacitated by partial paralysis.

Mrs. Moore was in her 74th year.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the home in Congress Lake, with the Rev. George E. Parkinson of the Christ United Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial will be in North Lawn Cemetery.

Calling hours are Friday from 2 to 4 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m. at the Moore home.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore were together through 44 years of married life until Mr. Moore's death in 1954. They came to Canton in 1927 after response to prior newspaper assignments in Cleveland, Columbus, Chicago, Portland, Me., and Marion, Ohio.

Purchase of the Marion Star from President Warren G. Harding in 1923 brought Mr. Moore, Louis H. Brush and William H. Vodrey into business partnership and their families into an enduring personal friendship.

The Moores made their home at Marion from 1923 to 1927 when, upon the partners' acquisition of The Canton Repository from the late George B. Frease and associates, they moved to Canton concurrent with incorporation of Brush - Moore Newspapers.

Mrs. Moore was helpfully at her husband's side during his incumbency as president and general manager of the company and in his guidance of the firm's newspapers. She participated closely with him, also, in activities of the Ohio Newspaper Association, the American Newspaper Publishers Association and its Bureau of Advertising, in the Ohio War Bond drives, the Ohio Publicity and Development Commission and in Gov. John W. Bricker's 1944 pre-convention campaign for the Republican nomination for president.

Mrs. Moore encountered the shock of family bereavement three times in six years, the death of her mother, Mrs. Etta Dyke, in 1952; the long illness and death of Mr. Moore in 1954, and the sudden death of her son, William T. Moore, in 1958.

Surviving Mrs. Moore are her daughter, Mrs. William I. Hershey of Congress Lake; two grandsons, Roy Moore Hershey, now in Germany with the U.S. Army, and William Thomas Hershey of Congress Lake; one granddaughter, Mrs. Jack Peverill of Minneapolis, and three great-grandchildren, Anne Steele Peverill, William Thomas Peverill and Sydney Peverill.

Charles (Beany) Oliver is recuperating from a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. James Leedy and son, Jimmy, of Canton have been called here by the illness of her father, Jay Taylor, who is a patient at the Ohio Valley Hospital at Steubenville.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dallis and family visited Sunday with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Huyghe, in Niles.

Mrs. Eva Cronin is ill.

Mrs. Hazel Lutton visited Sunday in Youngstown.

Medical Unit Names Group As Advisers

LISBON — The Columbiana County Medical Society has appointed a group of members to act in an advisory capacity to Columbiana County commissioners on health matters.

Dr. William Kolozsi of Salem, county coroner, was named chairman of the group when the society met Tuesday night at the Wick Hotel.

Dr. Merle Singer, county health commissioner, was approved as a new member of the society.

A letter was read to the society from Dr. Singer concerning what he called "the good work" being done by the present staff of the tuberculosis control clinic at the Courthouse.

Supported by a levy, the clinic gives X-rays, professional diagnosis and care of TB patients in the county. He asked that its personnel be left intact, and as a well-functioning unit, rather than "using the department as a political football" when political control of the Courthouse changes. The Democrats will have a majority on the Board of County Commissioners Jan. 1.

Dr. Eugene Mueller of Salem gave an illustrated discussion on inflammation diseases of the colon.

The next meeting will be a Christmas party with the date and place to be announced.

Truck Operator, Motorist Cited

An Ohio trucker and a Wellsville area motorist were cited following two minor traffic mishaps Wednesday in Chester.

Charles W. Traylor of Lewisburg, Ohio, was cited for crashing a traffic signal after a mishap at 5:15 p. m. at Carolina Ave. and 5th St. involving a jeep operated by Tony Ludovic, 615 Carolina Ave., police said.

Traylor posted a $15.50 bond for a hearing Dec. 9.

Beede L. Shinn of Wellsville R. D. 1 is scheduled for a hearing Saturday at 10 a. m. before Mayor Harry Abrams on a charge of hazardous driving.

Shinn was cited about 7 a. m. yesterday when he pulled his station wagon from the curb and struck the right side of a passing pickup truck operated by Donald Ralph Sage of Chester R. D. 1, police said.

Eighty-eight companies make automobile springs in the United States.

Holiday Decorations Topic For Garden Club At Lisbon

"Holiday Preview of Decorative Arrangements" was the program when the Lisbon Garden Club met Tuesday evening at the Methodist Church.

Mrs. J. L. Fauld of Fauld's Garden Center of Youngstown demonstrated the art of making door swags and centerpiece arrangements for Thanksgiving and Christmas.

There was a display of gift items for Christmas from the Hiscoc Supply Store. Humorous poems were read by Mrs. Jewell Williams.

Business Conducted

Mrs. George Lafferty, president, presided for business. Mrs. Guy Furhman was at the tea service.

Mrs. Perlee Bye, chairman of the social committee, had charge of arrangements and hostesses were Mrs. F. Jay Moore, Mrs. Furhman, Mrs. Iva Firestone, Mrs. Frank Steele and Mrs. Walter Ewing.

Mrs. John E. Jones of N. Market St. will be hostess for the next meeting Jan. 19.

Reservations for the combined clubs Christmas dinner party Dec. 11 at the Methodist Church are to be made with Mrs. Donald Loch by Dec. 8.

Donations Approved

The auxiliary of the VFW Post approved donations to the veterans hospital at Chillicothe, the VFW National Home and for Christmas seals at the meeting Tuesday evening at the post home, with Mrs. Betty Stark, vice president, presiding.

Members will furnish cookies for the Lionettes Christmas entertainment and party for residents of the Columbiana County Home Dec. 13.

The Christmas coverdish dinner party of the auxiliary will be held Dec. 19 at the McKinley Room.

The next regular meeting will be Dec. 1.

Lisbon Home and Garden Study Club members were guests of Mrs. Don Richardson of Lee Ave. Tuesday evening. "What Is Christmas," the participating program theme, included "Legends," Miss Clara McGee; "Music," Mrs. Richardson; "Reflections," Mrs. John Jones; "Flowers," Mrs. Richard Bowling, and "Feasts," Mrs. Galen Bye.

Dinner Party Set

A Christmas dinner party at the Salem Golf Club Dec. 8, will be followed by a gift exchange and social at the home of Mrs. Bowling of E. Lincoln Way.

Representing Iva Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star at the annual installation of the Columbiana Chapter Tuesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Leland Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Trotter, Mrs. Walter Lipp, Mrs. Jean Hanna, Mrs. Frank Flugan and Mrs. Russell Harsh.

Dinner-Dance Slated

The annual dinner - dance of the East Liverpool Masonic groups will be held Dec. 5 at the Masonic Temple.

Dinner will be served at 6:15 p. m., followed with entertainment at 8 and dance at 9. Reservations are to be made as soon as possible with any member of the Masonic Temple Co., or Charles Allison at the First National Bank.

McNamara Does It Again

Almost before election bets have been paid off, Secretary of Defense McNamara has done it again — announced more closings of military bases. This time there are 95 closings on the list, including naval shipyards.
It will be recalled that one of Robert Kennedy's heavy punches in his successful campaign for senator from New York was a promise to keep Brooklyn Navy Yard open if he was successful.
Here in an administrative capsule is the problem of federal spending: How to cut without drawing blood.
More than half the ponderous federal budget goes to the Department of Defense. It is the only budget item on which a pruning knife can be wielded to any effect.
Slashes in smaller budget items would not save enough money in total to be worth the effort. But the Defense Department, with $50 billion, gives a budget-cutter elbow room. Hence, Secretary McNamara's unpopularity with the people who have something to lose if his budget-cutting affects their areas or their own jobs. They fear his latitude of action.
They want all budget-cutting to be done somewhere else. They want to have federal spending and federal economy at the same time. As taxpayers, they want the federal government to hold down expenses but not at the cost of hurting anything they're interested in.
Poor Secretary McNamara, who must cut defense spending without spilling any blood. If the Johnson administration hadn't been given a four-year term, he wouldn't have known where to slash next.

Don't Be 'Conned'

In light of the $6,000 which "con artists" picked up so easily here, East Liverpool and area residents would do well to pay heed to Police Chief Radeschi's warning of the dangers that lie ahead during the holiday season.
The chief cautions that pickpockets, short-change artists and other types of swindlers become more active in the pre-Christmas period when money flows at a merry clip.
Since the spirit of giving prevails more than ever at this time of year, the average person becomes more vulnerable to the wiles and entreaties of the "con artist" after the "fast buck".
This does not mean you should turn into a Scrooge. Perform all the kind deeds you can, but be cautious to the point where you yourself are not taken in while performing these deeds.
There are many, many creditable groups who are preparing to play Santa in one way or another. Turn to them, if necessary, but don't place your confidence in the first stranger who comes by with a touching story or an apparent easy-money scheme.

Time To Tell The Story

Hubert Humphrey, whose whirlwind dervish campaigning set a new pace for vice-presidential candidates this year, thinks campaigns are twice as long as they should be. Sen. Goldwater and his running mate, U. S. Rep. William E. Miller, think they're too long, too.
The rub is that campaigns in a country this size are like the length of Abraham Lincoln's legs — as long as they have to be.
For everyone who thinks campaigns are too long someone else wishes there could be more time, because his candidate might win if there were enough chance to woo voters.
The trouble is not the campaigning itself but the fact the campaigning intrudes on so many things. Newspapers and magazines wear out politics because it is their obligation to provide full information to guide the public. The impression is made that the country is doing nothing else. Television and radio, which have valuable time to sell to the campaigners, wear out their patrons with obtrusive commercials.
We wear out one another with endless discussions of politics — discussions that all too often turn into bitter bickering. But all this has nothing to do with the campaigners at the head of the ticket, who are trying to reach as many millions as possible first-hand.
Campaigners know what the rest of us too easily forget. There is no substitute for personal appearance and the personal touch. Electronic campaigning is wonderful, as far as it goes. But it doesn't go all the way to the grass roots.

Campaigns, therefore, will continue to be long. Twice too long. Everybody will be sick of politics and ready to swear off when it's all over. And that may not be the least of the benefits of long campaigning. We get politics out of our system.
Come another national campaign and it will be too long, too. Not because the people want it to be that long but because campaigners will need time to tell their story.

The Goal Is Near

The United Fund is moving ever nearer its goal of $110,000, with $90,511 now reported.
There are 12 deserving agencies waiting anxiously to see if the drive goes over the top. If it does, their programs can continue as planned. If it doesn't, some curtailments will be necessary.
This is the critical period — the days that spell the difference between rousing victory or disappointing defeat. Those who still haven't reported or contributed can help make it victory by going all out to bring in the needed dollars.

As a defender of sociological studies, if this can be called that, I take my customary perverse satisfaction in disagreeing to say that there is something wrong with the study which found that undergraduates in Ivy League colleges, honor undergraduates in other colleges and Phi Beta Kappa graduates don't do so well as the ordinary herd in graduate school and in life thereafter. You'd be surprised how many in those classifications have outranked me down through the years. But maybe that tells more about me than them.

If modern traffic gives you the shakes, don't read newspaper stories about how the world speed record on wheels has skyrocketed to 536 miles an hour on the Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah. Our speed limit on some highways is now 70 miles an hour—tomorrow it will be 100. Hitch up Dobbin to the shay, please, Twill.
Faithfully yours,

Before joining the hue and cry to throw the Soviet Union out of the United Nations for nonpayment of assessments, Americans should remember their government started this agency, that U.S. capital built a home for it and the U.S. State Department uses it as a foreign policy adjunct. Expelling Russia would be something like cutting off Uncle Sam's nose to spite his face.

It wouldn't take much push to convert Nov. 22 into a day of national atonement, when Americans repent for excesses of political passions. Something like this is happening spontaneously.

For sheer horror, what can match the newest insanity in the New York area—rifle-firing snipers picking off human targets at random, like kids shooting sparrows with BB guns?

Shed a tear for the steel industry, caught bending over during a fight among United Steel Workers factions outpromising each other to do more for rank-and-file workers. No matter who wins, steel industry bargainers will be pushed.

Triple Threat!

Goldwater Ignores Labor's Jibes

By Victor Riesel

Barry Goldwater, civilian, still is under constant attack by the nation's labor leaders but is not going to return the fire.
He plans to ignore them just as he did during the presidential campaign. If there is a war on this front it will be one-sided. Evidence of this is his regretful bowing out of his pre-election commitment to speak at the annual dinner of the National Association of Manufacturers' Congress of Industry up in New York on Dec. 4.
He had said he would come—win or lose—and present a definitive analysis of his own plans and those of the Republican party.
Mr. Goldwater sent his regrets for several reasons, not the least of which, according to several of those who barnstormed the nation with him, is his reluctance to appear before a group representing a section of the economy.
The NAM is the broadest of the special interest organizations, second perhaps only to the AFL-CIO itself. The manufacturers have heard Supreme Court Justice Arthur Goldberg and Mr. Labor himself, George Meany.

Thomas Dewey in the famous Pittsburgh speech back in 1948.
Unlike the forces of GOP nominee Alf Landon in 1936, Mr. Goldwater did not go after such militant liberal labor leaders as the garment workers David Dubinsky, one of Lyndon Johnson's earliest labor allies. Back in 1936, Mr. Dubinsky recalled recently to a friend, he was called a Soviet agent after the Democrats named him an elector from New York.
This year, Mr. Dubinsky said almost ruefully after the election, neither Mr. Goldwater nor the conservative campaigners blasted him at all in any fashion, though he is one of the dynamos of the liberal-labor-Democratic coalition and has been a backer of Hubert Humphrey since 1944.

MR. GOLDWATER barely mentioned Walter Reuther during the drive for the presidency, though the auto union chief spoke in sometimes brutal terms of the Republican candidate. Though Reuther and his colleagues shut down the big General Motors Corp. right at the height of the campaign — something which no other GOP standard bearer would have ignored — Goldwater treated it as though it were a transit strike in the Falkland Islands.
This is still Goldwater's approach, though even today he is under sharp assault by George Meany, head of the sprawling labor movement.

SEN. GOLDWATER respects the NAM but reportedly does not want to appear to be appealing to any one segment of the people — not the businessmen, not the farmers, not the rank and file of labor.

This explains his actions during the campaign on this front — and projects what he will do in the coming months as he fights to give the conservatives as effective a voice inside the Republican party as possible during the siege.

Unlike previous Republican candidates, Barry Goldwater refused to attack the labor leaders who were blasting him as never before. This he did on the theory that he did not want to create labor's 17 million in the image of its leaders, good or bad, according to one of the handful of men with whom he discussed the campaign strategy at leisure.

HE REFUSED to make any special appeal to labor, as did

THIRTY YEARS AGO—Mrs. Blanch Pattison of St. Clair Ave. and Mrs. Anna Bailey of Sophia St. attended the annual state and national conventions of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in Cleveland.
Hershel Rhodes of Waterloo St. won the opening round of the tri-state speed skating contest at the Winland rink.

TWENTY YEARS AGO — About 1,200 army kit bags were prepared for shipment to servicemen at an eastern seaport by members of Rebecca Griscom Chapter, DAR, with Mrs. Nell Shope, in charge. Miss Helen B. Gleason of

In Tokyo the other day, Mr. Meany told the Japan Foreign Correspondents' Club that the senator had tried to make "the rich richer and the fat cats fatter."
If the Arizonan does reply to some of these jabs he will "draw a bead" on just one of his detractors and not the entire labor movement.

"HE HAD ample chance to do this during the campaign," said one of the three or four men of the Goldwater inner circle.

"But it was his decision not to go after any one group. He was determined — and still is — to treat them all as part of the citizenry.

He believes that the millions of union members, farmers, business people, small businessmen or merchants will respond to his appeal on broad issues, foreign policy, prosperity and a centralized government.

"The kind of thing he will do will be to continue to attack the poverty legislation, the approach to it by the administration, or the crisis in Southeast Asia. He's no candidate for anything, but you will find that he is just beginning to campaign among the broad base of the people. That explains why he never did go after the labor movement which built one of the most hard hitting political machines in our history — and hit him hard every day."

It gives labor the appearance of doing a lot of shadow boxing.

Letter To Editor

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Hurray for the Marching Mothers of Beaver Local!

No hard-surfaced road is safe to walk along these days of heavy traffic.
I recently heard an account of how the women of our United States of America won the vote. Not by talking it over at lady-like teas. They marched, they were spit upon, sworn at, had objects thrown at them. They were jailed. So did the women who pioneered the West.

The only tea party that did our country any good was the Boston Tea Party.

If our ancestors hadn't been militant, too, we would still be under the rule of Great Britain. This is still a country of free thinking and free speech and no one cares to be brain-washed and made into puppets of the so-called educational association.

Law Of Convenience

By David Lawrence

Corrupt Practices Act Often Ignored

Such phrases as the "law of the land" and "obedience to law and order" sometimes have a hollow sound nowadays for the Department of Justice enforces whatever laws it pleases. This has been true in preceding administrations, and it doubtless will continue to be true as long as David Lawrence the department itself is headed by a member of the President's Cabinet instead of being established as an independent agency with its functions specifically defined by law.

Now that the political campaign is over, the country will witness again a flagrant acquiescence in, if not complete indifference to, violations of the law of the land as it relates to political contributions. Congress several years ago passed what is known as the Federal Corrupt Practices Act. But many of its provisions are ignored both by the public and by whatever administration happens to be in power.

The Federal Corrupt Practices Act defines a political contribution as including an individual gift, subscription, loan, or anything of value.

THE LAW, moreover, forbids contributions by any corporation or labor organization. But it is a fact that in the recent presidential campaign, as well as in previous campaigns, there were special committees set up to handle campaign contributions and other political activities.

Just because these organizations claim that they operate separately from the regular labor-union organizations, a widespread assumption exists that they are not subject to the Federal Corrupt Practices Act, but many of these same political-action organizations of labor, as well as of business men, are directed by persons who receive their salaries regularly from a labor union or corporation.

Certainly, when a corporate executive or a labor-union official gives a considerable part of his time to a political campaign and continues to receive his regular salary from the corporation or the labor union, something "of value" has been contributed to a political campaign by that corporation or labor union, as the case may be.

IT'S NOT LIKELY that the Department of Justice under this administration — any more than it did under preceding administrations — will inquire into the relationships that exist between corporations and their executives who participate in a campaign, or between labor organizations and their special committees which engage in political activity.

The statute not only provides a fine and imprisonment for the making of prohibited contributions by corporations or labor organizations but it also says it is unlawful "for any candidate, political committee, or other person to accept or receive any contribution prohibited by this section."

So far as this correspondent knows, no candidate "or other person" has ever been prosecuted for "accepting" such contributions.

The Federal Corrupt Practices Act, moreover, has a special section which provides a fine and imprisonment if any government employee "directly or indirectly solicits, receives, or is in any manner concerned in soliciting or receiving, any assessment, subscription, or contribution for any political purpose whatever" from any other employee of the government.

Yet it is a common practice for government employees and officials to issue to other government employees "invitations" to political dinners and other functions held for party fundraising purposes. This is, however, ignored by the law enforcement agency of the government itself.

PERHAPS the most striking provisions of the law are those which forbid the promise of employment or other benefits derived from governmental sources in return for political support.

The statute forbids the promise of any benefit "provided for or made possible in whole or in part by any act of Congress, to any person, as consideration, favor, or reward for any political activity or for the support of or opposition to any candidate or any political party in any election."

Political campaigning nowadays, more than ever before, is related to the expenditure of governmental funds in particular states, areas or districts. The idea that the voter will get some material benefit if he votes a particular way and for a particular candidate is widely exploited during campaigns.

If these provisions of law have been found unwise, then they ought to be repealed, but failure to enforce the statute gives rise to the impression that politicians inside the government have at times a selfish interest in avoiding enforcement of the "law of the land."

Old Meshed With New

By Harry Kelly

WASHINGTON
Hubert H. Humphrey bounded down the steps of his campaign plane in Southern Illinois not many weeks ago and received a welcoming serenade of "Happy Days Are Here Again."

He'd heard it countless times. But on this day it was played with a rock 'n' roll beat.

It was jarringly symbolic of how the old meshes with the new in today's campaigning. The horse-and-buggy politicking of torchlight rallies and street-corner harangues are now played out to a faster, more exhausting rhythm set by jet planes and modern communications.

Despite the swifter pace the presidential campaigns appear to grow no shorter. Some argue they are longer than ever.

If one consensus has emerged from this political season it is that presidential campaigns are too long. Too long for the candidates, too long for the people.

On Election Day, Sen. Barry Goldwater looked back on months of speeches and thousands of miles of travel and decided that U.S. election campaigns are so long they are silly. As for the candidate's lot of having to utter the same speeches day after day, he said, "That can drive you nuts."

There is usually grumbling of one sort or another from the loser. This time there was some grumbling from the winning team, too.

Humphrey, who actually enjoys stumping, started out with the joy of a porpoise taking to the sea. But a couple of weeks before the end he was admitting that the journey was too long.

"I'm coming up with gravel and sand," he remarked in an allusion to the days of his youth in South Dakota when the well pump was primed but came up dry.

If the candidates are tired, the public may well be both tired and bored with the whole thing.

Humphrey, a former teacher as well as a practicing politician, knows an audience's attention span is limited. Like Goldwater, he felt the candidates might be losing their audience.

What to do about it? How long should the campaign last?

"They ought to be like the British elections. If you can't get your point across in four weeks you ought to give it up," said Goldwater.

Humphrey, the vice president-elect, suggested in an NBC interview taped before flying off for a rest in the Virgin Islands that perhaps both parties could reach an understanding "that it might be well if we had our political conventions in September rather than in July and August."

That way, said Humphrey, there could be two weeks of preparation and then a 6-week, rather than a 10-week, campaign.

Rep. John S. Monagan thinks there should be a law against long campaigns. He is going to try to get one passed.

The Connecticut Democrat has announced he will introduce a bill when Congress reconvenes in January to limit presidential campaigns to just 60 days.

Calling the campaigns "electoral circuses," Monagan contends they are wasteful in money and time and exhaust the nervous and physical resources of the candidates.

"After the first informative period," he said, "they bore the elector and thus fail to serve a purpose."

LISBON — A motorist was sentenced to the County Jail and six were fined Tuesday by County Judge James L. MacDonald in State Highway Patrol cases.

William D. Henry, 32, of Philippi, W. Va., was jailed 10 days for driving without an operator's license.

Fined were Jack L. McIlvain, 24, of 300 E. 3rd St., East Liverpool, $25 and costs for driving on an expired license;

John R. Wargo, 26, of Summitville, $5 and costs for failure to stop within the assured clear distance.

Harry Densmore, 46, of Lisbon R. D. 4, $10 and costs, and Orin G. Robinson, 38, of 424 N. Beaver St., $5 and costs, both for speeding.

Charles L. Howard, 23, of Hanoverton R. D. 1, $10 and costs, and Charles W. Rheuan, 19, of Salem, $5 and costs, both for no mufflers.

Harold M. Hines, 21, of Cleveland forfeited $15 bond for speeding and $20 bond for consuming intoxicating liquor in a car.

McIlvain was also ordered to pay $6.50 costs for speeding. Wargo was cited for an accident.

Man Fined $20 In Trash Case

NEW CUMBERLAND — George Cox, 32, of R. D. 2 was fined $20 and costs at a hearing Tuesday before Squire John D. Herron on a charge of dumping trash adjacent to the highway.

He was cited by Walter McCrea, Hancock County conservation officer.

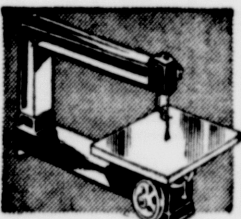

Among those fined Monday on traffic violations were Charles Streets, 29, of Chester, $50 and costs for reckless driving; Ronald Weekley, 29, of New Cumberland, $10 and costs for speeding; and Charles R. Murphy, 22, of Wellsville, $10 and costs for failure to have his car under control.

Streets was cited by Clay District Constable Donald Dunlevy, Weekley by State Police, and Murphy by the Hancock County sheriff's office.

'Here Comes Charlie' Friday

South Side Seniors To Give Play

Joe Whitehill and Susan Walker, front, and Darla Carson and John Halstead, rear, rehearse a scene from "Here Comes Charlie," the Senior Class play to be presented at South Side High School near Hookstown Friday night.

The three-act comedy concerns a situation that develops when a young bachelor played by Whitehill, is named guardian of what he believes is a young boy by the name of Charlie. Charlie, however, turns out to be a pretty 17-year-old girl. Also featured in the cast will be Delores Hommes, John Wright, Andy Reese, Bonnie Rogers, Bob Butterfield and Sue Halstead.

Mrs. Marie A. Elliott and Robert Pardue are directors and Lana Dawson is the student director.

Curtain time is set for 8 in the high school auditorium.

Midland Legion Gets Report On Annual Yule Toy Project

A report on the annual Christmas toy project and a discussion of the Beaver County Veterans Day Observance in New Brighton highlighted a meeting of Midland American Legion Post 481 Monday night at the post home.

Steve Crano, chairman of the toy project, said new toys are being sought especially this year for distribution to children of needy families. But used toys in good condition also will be accepted, he said.

Charles Cover, commander, presided.

William Riddle, sergeant-at-arms, reported that the post's color guard, the Sons of Legion Squadron and the Midland and Western Beaver High School bands took part in the annual parade.

The Sons of the Legion unit was awarded a prize as the largest drill team. The boys drilled in front of the reviewing stand.

225 Attend Joint PTA's At Lisbon

LISBON — Mrs. Kenneth Apple, president of the Lincoln Parent-Teacher Association, presided at the combined meeting of McKinley and Lincoln groups Monday evening, with 225 present.

Invocation was given by the Rev. James E. Moxley of the First Christian Church.

Membership awards were presented by Mrs. Albert Pastore, membership chairman, to Mrs. George Nul's third grade for the most members; Mrs.

Gold Star Mothers from the Midland area attended the annual banquet. It also was reported that the Sons of the Legion participated in the Veterans Day parade in East Liverpool.

Truman E. Rodfong, blood bank chairman, asked members who plan to donate blood to contact him as soon as possible.

A donation was made to the Midland Chamber of Commerce Christmas lighting program and to the Dixmont State Mental Hospital.

It was announced the post's color guard will participate in the dedication of the new Midland - Shippingport bridge Nov. 30.

William Coble, auxiliary chairman, announced activities of the group. The women will hold a Christmas coveredish dinner Dec. 14.

The house committee, headed by Crano, served lunch.

Eleanor Hartman's third grade, the highest percentage of members, and Cindy Grate, sixth grader, the most individual members.

Mrs. Paul Mollenkopf, McKinley ways and means chairman, reported proceeds of the recent fall festival totaled $375.

A musical program presented by first, second and sixth grade students was directed by Mrs. Elizabeth Duke, elementary music supervisor.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Richard Kennedy and Mrs. Robert Burris and Junior PTA was supervised by Mrs. Jon Reynolds.

The next meeting will be Jan. 19 at McKinley.

Fought Migrant Program

Catholics Fear Influx Of Low-Wage Workers

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Roman Catholic organization that fought against the foreign farm migrant program fears President Johnson will permit the continued influx of thousands of low-wage workers under the Immigration Act.

"It is now becoming apparent that the growers are determined to continue to demand and get the equivalent of a slave labor force," said the Rev. James L. Vizzard, S.J., chairman of the National Catholic Rural Life Conference.

"To me it is a profound embarrassment and humiliation that our federal government feels it is obliged to cooperate with them in this disgraceful venture," the Jesuit priest told a labor conference Tuesday.

Legislation to extend two laws permitting foreign laborers into the United States during harvest time was killed in Congress. The laws expire Dec. 31, and the Labor Department has scheduled public hearings to determine new rules for letting the workers in under the Immigration Act.

Imported Mexican workers in the Southwest and British West Indies workers in Florida will be most affected by the expiring laws.

Father Vizzard noted that President-elect Gustavo Diaz Ordaz of Mexico visited President Johnson at his Texas ranch last week and reported later that among other things they talked about the migrant worker program.

Father Vizzard said the rural life conference, made up of 41 national, civic, church, farm and labor groups, helped in the fight in Congress to prevent extension of the foreign migrant laws, but: "What seemed to be one of our most important victories is threatening to turn into ashes in our mouths."

He said some farm employers were planning to substitute the immigration law for the expiring laws to bring in workers. When the program expires, all migrants must come in under the immigration law after the secretary of labor certifies they would not hurt the U.S. labor market.

Father Vizzard said his organization and other groups would testify against any large-scale

OSU Course Planned For Farming Youths
LISBON — An eight-week short course for young farmers will be conducted at Ohio State University Jan. 4-Feb. 26, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture. The course is designed for those interested in farming as a career. Classroom work will consist of a series of discussions in which the students will participate, being taught by authorities in their respective fields from the College of Agriculture. Instruction will be supplemented by on-farm demonstrations. Classes will be offered in agriculture, animal science, dairy science, horticulture and forestry, poultry science, entomology and plant pathology. A brochure with further information may be obtained at the Extension Service office, 113 S. Main St.

Hearing For Motorist In Mishap Due Friday
A Municipal Court hearing is scheduled Friday at 9 a. m. for an East End man cited on two charges as an aftermath of a collision Monday night on the East Liverpool - Wellsville "super - road."

The defendant is Charles F. Cunningham, 855 Pennsylvania Ave., accused by the State Highway Patrol of driving without an operator's permit and failure to yield the right - of - way to oncoming traffic when making a left turn. The patrol said Cunningham was involved in a two-way crash ship, more than any other driver, as he attempted to turn off the "super - road" onto County Rd. 427.

McNary-Allison Wedding Ceremony Is Double-Ring

Miss Kathy Allison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Allison of Georgetown R. D. 1, and Walter McNary, son of Mrs. Wanda McNary of Hookstown R. D. 2, exchanged marriage vows the morning of Nov. 7 at 11 o'clock in the Presentation Catholic Church of Midland.

Fr. John Sabovich, assistant pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar background of white mums and pink carnations. Satin bows marked the family pews. Mr. and Mrs. James O'Reilly, soloist and organist of St. Aloysius Catholic Church of East Liverpool, presented the music.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white satin designed with a detachable train. The fitted bodice, accented with lace and pearl medallions, was fashioned with a scoop neckline and long, pointed sleeves. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was attached to a pearl crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Jean Allison, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Bettie Butterfield, Miss Marilyn Soisson and Miss Nancy McIntire. Their floor-length gowns were styled with Empire waistlines, the bodices of pink crepe and skirts of wine velvet. Wine satin bows accented the bodices. Their headpieces were wine satin in cabbage roses with theater veils. They carried cascades of pink carnations and white pom-poms.

James Szatkowski, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Dale Allison and Daniel McNary, brothers of the principals, and Steve Norris.

The mother of the bride chose a dress of turquoise and gold brocade with gold accessories and the bridegroom's mother, with Mrs. Robert Tucker of Erie St.

Mrs. Virginia Heddleston, president, conducted business with reports heard from Miss Lillian Miles, secretary, and Mrs. Roma Baldwin, treasurer. Miss Ada Miles reported 57 sick calls.

A reading, "What Thanksgiving Can Do for You," was presented by Mrs. Heddleston for devotions. Mrs. Pearl Simms offered prayer.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

The Christmas party and gift exchange will be held Dec. 15 at the church. Miss Ada Miles will have devotions.

The auxiliary of the Glenmoor volunteer fire department will meet Monday at the fire hall with Mrs. Donna Menear and Mrs. Sara Tatgenhorst hostesses.

Miss Helen Winland screened slides for the meeting of the

Wellsville Post Auxiliary Plans Basket Project

A committee to handle Christmas baskets for the needy of Wellsville was appointed at the meeting of the auxiliary of American Legion Post 70 Tuesday night in the post home.

It consists of Mrs. Betty Maylone, Mrs. Pat Henthorn, Mrs. Carmella Boyce, Mrs. Sophie Fistel, Mrs. Dolores Excell and Mrs. Ann Geary. Instead of a Christmas gift exchange, members are to give $1 towards the fund for the baskets and are to bring canned goods to the post home.

Donations of $5 each were given to the Chapel of Four Chaplains, Christmas Seals, Crile, Dayton and Brecksville Veterans Hospitals and $10 to a family burned out last week. Reports were given on the card party and three banquets served in the past month. Mrs. Clara Sumpter was accepted as a new member.

Final plans were made for the Christmas party and coverdish dinner Dec. 8 in the post home with the post members as guests. The committee includes Mrs. Boyce, Mrs. Bonnie Beresford, Mrs. Fistel and Mrs. Doris Burns. Meat, rolls, butter and coffee will be provided by the unit and members and guests are to bring table service. A surprise celebration for the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Kathryn Hughes was held. Mrs. Mae French won a prize for games and was assisted in serving lunch by Mrs. Eria Petty.

West Point PTA Backs Board In Economy Policy

WEST POINT — A vote of confidence in the Beaver Local School District Board of Education operation proposals was approved by the executive committee at the meeting of the West Point Parent - Teacher Association Monday night with Mrs. Frank Hare, president, presiding. It opened with the Pledge of Allegiance given by Mrs. Mary Steffen, principal.

Donations for Christmas Seals and to the Columbiana County Welfare department's Christmas fund for the children were approved.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fryman, membership chairmen, were given a vote of thanks for the success of the membership drive.

Mothers will continue to assist with playground duty, as it has proved satisfactory.

The holiday festival to be given Saturday from 4 to 9 p.m. will feature Santa's workshop, games, special prizes, bake sale, lunch room and other events.

Standish Miller, elementary supervisor, was guest speaker outlined the school program.

Mrs. Betty Conrad was chairman of the refreshment committee and the class taught by Mrs. Steffen received the attendance prize.

The meeting night was changed to the second Monday of the month so as not to conflict with the school board meetings.

The school Christmas party will be held Dec. 23 with a full-course dinner. The next meeting of the PTA will be held Dec. 14 at 7:30 p. m.

First Federal To Pay $13.013 In Yule Club

New Commission's Event

Human Relations Forum Slated At Midland Friday

A public forum on the theme, "Help Us to Understand Each Other and Ourselves," will be held Friday night at 8 in the Steelworkers Hall by the Midland Human Relations Commission.

It was given official authority by the enactment of an ordinance in Midland Borough Council recently and this is its first action. The program will include a panel discussion on questions to be submitted by the audience.

Dr. O. H. Williams, chairman of the Psychology Department of Geneva College, will speak on "Developmental Approach to Human Relations."

Conducting the three phases of the panel discussion period will be James Morrison, education; A. L. Breakiron, employment, and Charles R. Schmitt, housing. They will preface the question period with remarks pertaining to their subjects.

Questions will be submitted in writing by the audience and referred to the moderator, Mrs. R. D. Paisley, public information chairman for the commission, by Olen Gibson, Paul C. McGovern and Mrs. Harvey Folks. William J. Vinovich will be timer.

Mrs. Paisley, chairman of the meeting, is being assisted in arrangements by Will T. Leavell and all members. Schmitt, divisional superintendent of flat rolled products at Crucible and acting chairman, will introduce commission members, including Morrison, member of Midland Board of Education and a staff member of the community relations department of Crucible's Midland Works; Leavell, NAACP president, mortician and Crucible employee; Fr. Francis E. Paul, pastor of the Presentation Catholic Church; Wilbert Basinger, Midland realtor and insurance agent and Ohioville councilman. Sherman Stewart, retired employee of the Pennsylvania State Liquor Control Board; the Rev. W. L. Harris, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist Church; Fr. Milorad Dobrotka, pastor of St. George Serbian Orthodox Church; Olen C. Gibson, assistant secretary of the Beaver Trust Co.'s Midland Branch; McGovern, director of the First National Bank and production co-ordinator for the finishing mills at Crucible; Breakiron, community relations director of Crucible's Midland Works; Vinovich, president of Midland Borough Council and steelworker; Mrs. Folks, civic leader; James Mullen, retired staff representative of Steelworkers District 20, and Mrs. Paisley, publisher of The Midland News.

Commission members were named by Mayor Eli G. Corak in 1963 when the organization was formed. Mullen, commission chairman, has been ill and a patient in the hospital.

The commission, a permanent body of 15 members, is appointed by the mayor who will name the chairman. The commission selected the vice chairman, Schmitt and secretary, Morrison.

The purpose of the commission is to guarantee equal rights for all, create good will, lessen tensions, improve group relations in the borough and foster mutual understanding and co-operation among persons of all races, creeds, color and national origins.

The commission meets monthly unless special meetings are called.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: If other mothers are like I was with my first baby, they find themselves a little shaky when it comes time for baby's bath.

When my baby was about two months old — that age when they are so wiggly — I thought of putting the baby down on a foam-backed bath mat in the big bath tub. It works. Baby didn't slip and slide.

I put baby in the tub at the end opposite the faucets and allowed the tub to fill just enough. It was then so easy to soap and rinse him without having to hold him tightly or having him slip on the slick tub!

When baby was about six months old, I just attached the shampoo spray to the faucet, using a small amount of water (following the soaping) to rinse him. This was the greatest and he loved it.

This method worked so well that I have used it with all three of my children.

MRS. L. W.

DEAR HELOISE: I once lived in a section of the country where there were no paved roads and the dust provided a constant battle, especially on the windows.

I found that by washing the windows with a quart of a cup of corn starch in a half gallon of luke-warm water, it did wonders.

It not only cut the dirt faster, but the windows stayed clean longer . . . plus the fact that it is inexpensive.

FRANCES STROPKAL

Great! I tried it. But, ladies, you can't use plastic starch or spray types. This is the old-fashioned powdered kind . . . A beautiful shine resulted.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I'm the mother of two small children and when I take them to town with me during a rush time, I pin a note on each child's garment. I write the child's name, address, age and my name.

If the child wanders away, (and sometimes it will accidentally happen), whoever finds him will know whom to contact.

MOTHER OF SMALL FRY.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's a hint for the gals who go shopping in the rain or snow:

I have a big, wonderful, paper shopping bag, but as you know . . . paper does get wet.

Well, I took one of those plastic bags that comes from the cleaners and slipped my shopping bag into it. Then I took the biggest needle I could find, threaded it with string, and stitched the plastic bag on the outside of my shopping bag.

Presto, a waterproof shopping bag.

"LOVE SHOPPING NOW."

DEAR HELOISE: Here's how I solved the problem of a towel pole that was too short. (These fixtures are useless if they don't fit tight to the ceiling.)

I bought a cheap, plastic bucket, mixed up some quick-setting patching plaster and poured it into the bucket, pouring as many inches of the plaster as the pole needed to touch the ceiling. I let this set overnight so that it would be good and hard.

Then I set the pole in the middle of the bucket, and by adding plastic flowers around the edge, I have a very pretty planter with a towel pole growing out of it. The cost of the whole planter project was less than $2.

I also set a pole lamp in a wooden planter box (no plaster needed as it fits the ceiling), bought two large, leafy plastic plants, set them in the planter, then tied the stems to the pole so they would stay put.

The results from a would-be-catastrophe turned my home into a flower garden.

CAUTION: No live plants should be used on the electrical-type poles as these need watering . . . and electricity and H2O don't mix!

VETRA.

DEAR HELOISE: I find that using tomato cocktail juice and consomme (instead of water) makes a much more flavorful gravy for my beef stews.

MRS. H. G. S.

Cincinnati Board OKs Polio Immunization

CINCINNATI (AP)—The City Board of Health, warned that the city faces a polio outbreak, has authorized a program to begin polio immunization among families of low income levels.

Dr. T. A. Cockburn, assistant city health director, told the board Wednesday that Cincinnati faces an outbreak unless more infants are immunized against polio. He said only about 40 per cent of the city's babies are being inoculated.

50 Teachers At Workshop At Fairfield

LISBON — Over 50 teachers attended the Columbiana County junior high workshop held Tuesday at Fairfield School, with the theme, "Keep In Pace."

The workshop was sponsored by the Columbiana County Education Association for teachers in the rural school system, with junior high pupils excused for the one-day affair.

Joe Driscoll, executive head of the Fairfield — Waterford School District, gave the welcome following the registration and coffee period.

Forenoon sessions and instructors were: Language Arts — Chester M. Brautigam, executive head of United Local District and an English professor for Kent State University.

Social Studies — Kenneth Webber, director of audio — visual education for Warren city schools.

Mathematics — Robert Baeder, consultant for Harcourt, Brace & World Publishing Co. Panel discussions in the afternoon were:

"Extra-curricular activities" — James Hanley, principal, Salineville; Mrs. Catherine Leath-erberry, teacher, Southern Local; Andrew Domenick, music, Fairfield — Waterford; Donald Dawson, Junior High co-ach, United, and Paul Metrovich, teacher, Beaver Local.

"Improving Study Habits" — Lorin Ruff, elementary school consultant; Hubert Lawrence, school psychologist; Urton Anderson, high school consultant, and Standish Miller, elementary supervisor, Beaver Local schools.

High School workshop Friday at Beaver Local High School will conclude the CCEA's workshop series for Grades 1-12.

Drive Urged To Halt Spread Of A-Weapons

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Lon-uis Pauling, two-time Nobel Prize winner, says the forces for peace should concentrate their efforts on preventing the spread of nuclear weapons.

Dr. Pauling, an instructor at California Institute of Technology at Pasadena, told some 1,200 persons at Fairmont Temple Wednesday night that "we must work against the Chinese stockpiling of nuclear weapons."

He said the talk in Australia when he was there recently was that the country could not depend upon the United States and Great Britain to aid in her defense and that Australia must have her own nuclear weapons.

Government Recruits Jobless

Unemployed Coal Miners Moving Into Copper Pits

WASHINGTON (AP) — It isn't easy for families to pull up stakes, but to combat unemployment the government is helping recruit hundreds of jobless Appalachian coal miners for the Montana copper mines.

So far, officials are pleased with the results.

Said a Montana Employment Service report recently: "Many of the new miners have already earned more in one month than they made in an entire year in a series of odd jobs back home."

But, the same report pointed out: "The story did not have a happy ending for all of the new arrivals. Some of them soon became lonely for the old familiar haunts and a few more disenchanted. Others just could not make the grade as hard-rock miners."

The story is being written jointly by federal and state employment services and two independent unions, the United Mine Workers of America and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.

The coal fields of Appalachia are among the most depressed areas of the nation. Employment has plummeted from about 450,000 in 1948 to 125,000 today, and with increasing automation there is little chance of reversing the trend.

What the federal government is doing is making these miners — many haven't worked in the fields in years — aware of the job opportunities in the Montana mines. The Labor Department emphasizes that the migration is strictly voluntary; no government pressure is applied.

In the past two years, miners have been recruited from Alabama, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania to work in Montana, where recent developments in open-pit mining of low-grade ore created a shortage of copper miners.

Cubs Get Charter At PTA Meeting

Cub Scout Pack 10 was presented its charter at a meeting of the Newell Jefferson Parent-Teacher Association Wednesday night at the school. The unit sponsors the pack. The presentation was made by Dale Hoyt, district commissioner of the Columbiana Boy Scout Council.

Arthur DeLong, cubmaster, said the pack will march in the Christmas parade Nov. 27 in East Liverpool.

The attendance banner was won by the fifth grade, of which Miss Ethel Moore is teacher. Devotions were led by Mrs. Donald McKeigh, who read the 1963 Thanksgiving Proclamation of John F. Kennedy.

Arthur Fluharty, vice president, presided in the absence of George Gogol, president.

Refreshments were served 50 by the fifth grade homeroom mothers.

Date of the next meeting will be announced.

Hope Dims For Safety Of Missing Brothers

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Hope is fading for the safety of two brothers missing four days in the rough wilderness country of the Superstition Mountains.

The search was to resume today for Richard Kremis, 21, of Mesa, Ariz., and his brother, Robert, 17, of Fredonia, Pa.

They have not been heard from since they went deer hunting in the mountain range shortly before a vicious snow storm struck Sunday.

About 500 searchers, including 50 on horseback, fought snow and a chill wind in a futile search Wednesday.

Ohio Woman Killed In Indiana Accident

CHURUBUSCO, Ind. (AP) — An Ohio woman is among two persons dead as a result of a traffic accident on U.S. 33 a half mile south of here.

Killed instantly when their car swerved into oncoming traffic Wednesday were the driver, Viva Fry, 56, of Paye (Paulding County), Ohio, and Pearl Haney, 74, Albion, Ind. The driver of the other car was injured.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I have a sister-in-law who figures her groceries so close you need a search warrant to find an extra piece of bread in her house. Lucille is so tight you'd faint right in her living room before she'd offer you a cup of coffee.

Last Sunday afternoon my husband and I and our two children were driving by their home. They were sitting out in front on lawn chairs and waved for us to stop. After about an hour our oldest boy said, "Aunt Lucille, I'm hungry." She replied "Wait till you get home. I don't want to spoil your supper."

I was so burned up when I heard her answer the boy that way I suggested we leave.

Now I'm sorry I didn't tell her off. Should I have said something? If so, what?—DE-LAYED REACTION.

Dear Delayed: What good would telling her off do?

Since you are aware of Aunt Lucille's stinginess, feed your children before you take them to her home. Of if you want to be obvious, carry sandwiches along in a paper sack and ask if you can use her dishes.

Meal Ticket

Dear Ann: I have become interested in a woman who is 43 but she could pass for much less. I'm 27. This sounds like a big difference but mentally and physically Rena and I are awfully close.

My mother is 45 years old and ready to take the gas pipe. I've told Mother if she met Rena she's like her a lot but Mother says she doesn't want to meet Rena because she isn't sure she could control herself.

The problem is that Rena wants to back me in the restaurant business—no strings attached. I have a great location picked out and I'm sure I could do well.

My mother says she will mortgage the house and get me the money if I have my heart set on the deal but she doesn't want me to accept Rena's backing. Frankly, I don't want to take a chance with Mom's money. Please help me decide.—REX.

Dear Rex: If you haven't enough confidence in the deal to accept your mother's money, then for heaven's sake don't accept Rena's money. Financial obligations make strange bedfellows—both literally and figuratively.

Get back into your own generation, Buster. You have one mother. That's enough.

It's Veterinarian

Dear Ann: I read the letter from the little boy who was afraid his parents might put his dog "Skipper" to sleep. As a member of the veterinary profession I resent your use of the term "vet." This is degrading to the profession and its members.

The proper terminology is "veterinarian" or "veterinary medical doctor" or "doctor of veterinary medicine." The word "vet" suggests an individual who has served in a war.

When "vet" is used in conversation I suspect the person cannot pronounce veterinarian. When it appears in print I suspect the writer cannot spell it. I hope you will publish my letter.—W.W.N., DVM.

Dear UWN., DVM: I checked with three Chicago doctors of veterinary medicine. None of them likes being called "vet."

One said the term "vet" is a hangover from the days when medical training was not a prerequisite and animals were treated by lay people who wanted to help suffering creatures. Today a veterinarian (see, I can, TOO, spell it) is trained in the science of animal medicine and deserves to be called by his proper title.

I'm glad you wrote to correct me. I feel the same way when someone calls me a love-lorn columnist.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Board Supported By Beaver Local Education Group

The Association for Advancement of Beaver Local Education Tuesday night went on record supporting the Beaver Local Board of Education transportation and school operation cutbacks for economy reasons.

Fifteen attended the meeting of ABLE at the Public School during which the financial problems of the district were discussed.

A resolution was approved backing the board's cutbacks made recently or to be required as a result of the lack of funds.

Discussion was held on promotion of a proposed new 5.4-mill levy at a special election Jan. 5.

Area chairmen reported. A discussion was held on the reaction of some parents to the bus reductions.

The next meeting will be Dec. 1. Dr. Arthur Cloran, president, announced all interested residents of the district are invited to the ABLE meetings.

Given Third Term

R. G. Brian Returned As County UCPA Head

Richard G. Brian was re-elected for a third term as president of the Columbiana County Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association at a meeting Tuesday night in the clinic rooms of the Mary Patterson Memorial. About 19 attended.

Other officers re-elected were Standley Hilbert, first vice president; James Magill, second vice president; Atty. John B. McDonald, secretary; Mrs. J. Donald Thompson, treasurer, and Lawrence Zollinger, adviser.

Named to the Board of Directors were Mrs. Ed Broderick and Mrs. William Rager, Wellsville; Mrs. Eileen Bush and Mrs. Fred Perkins, Damascus; Robert Cole and Mrs. Edward Stonemetz, East Palestine; Rep. Clarence Wetzel, Mrs. Jane Calhoun and Mrs. Hoyte Sexton, Lisbon; Raymond Cole, Donald Hepp and Mrs. Hugh Kendall, Columbiana; Mrs. Ernest John, Chester; Harrison Kyle and Rex Reich, Salem; Walter Newton, Leetonia, and Charles Mundy, Salineville.

Those from East Liverpool returned to the board were Mrs. Alexander Fisher, Frank Fluno Jr., Mrs. Lester Hall, Eugene Hall, Mrs. May Hartt, Mrs. Dorothy Horsley, Mrs.

Ethel Harvey, Mrs. Robert Hays, Mrs. Ray Jolly, Mrs. G. Richard Jones, Mrs. Robert Jones, Mrs. George McCullough, Mrs. John B. McDonald, William McNutt, J. Norman Nicely, Michael Turk and Mrs. Nathan Weinbrein.

Mrs. Horsely served as chairman of the nominating committee.

Reports were heard on the Halloween party for children of the clinic and families arranged by the Key Club of the high school.

It was announced a relaxing mat has been provided by the Junior Women's Club for the nursery school. Three chairs and rocking horses were presented by Alliance Hospital through the efforts of Mrs. Perkins.

Cole was commended for the recent campaign in the northern section of the Columbiana County. Fluno, chairman of the southern section, said this campaign will be held at a later date.

A report was given on the annual dinner held in September at Salem which some 100 attended. Kyle was general chairman.

Mrs. McDonald was authorized to purchase gifts for the Christmas party for the children. The date will be set.

Boy, 16, Hurt When His Car Hits Another

A 16-year-old city youth suffered mouth injuries when his car rammed the rear of another on the Y. & O. Rd. Tuesday.

Robert Buckley, son of Robert Buckley of the Y. & O. Rd., was headed southeast about a half mile from Route 30 when his 1954 coach hit the rear of a school bus ahead.

Buckley, treated at City Hospital for abrasions of the lips and jaw bruises, said the sun obscured his vision.

Firemen Pick Officers For County Group

Paul VanPelt of Homeworth was elected president of the Columbiana County Firemen's Association at a meeting Wednesday night at Salineville. He succeeds Robert Samek of Negley.

Others named were Jonathan Gamble of Winona, vice president, and Devine Banks of Glenmoor, secretary-treasurer.

Named directors were Lawrence Licht of East Palestine, John Roush of Glenmoor, Chief Don Boyd of Highlandtown and Chief Joe Cooper of Winona.

About 34 men, representing 13 departments, attended the session at which certificates were issued for those graduated from fire school sessions at Leetonia in October. There were 150 firemen from 24 departments at the school.

Appointed to the fire school committee for 1965 were Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville, James Wernet of Hanover Township, Roush, John Shearer of Unity, Gamble and Earl Mather of Damascus.

The Rev. Delbert Miller of the Salineville Assembly of God gave prayer.

Charles Gause, president of the county Trustees and Clerks Association, spoke on the duties of the trustees and described a proposal which would reduce the role of trustees in Ohio.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 20 at Leetonia.

Plans For Band's Trips Discussed For Mothers

Vincent L. Maola Jr., director, outlined details of two trips to be made by the band next week at a meeting of the ELHS Band and Orchestra Mothers Tuesday evening in the band room of the Memorial Auditorium.

The ELHS Twin marching bands, comprised of 160 members, will leave Wednesday morning at 6 for Philadelphia to appear in the annual Christmas parade on Thanksgiving Day.

THE PARADE, the oldest and largest in the nation, will be televised nationally at 10 a. m. Arthur Godfrey, Allan Luddon and Betty White giving the commentary.

The ELHS band, which will be 48th in the line of march, will follow a parade route of over four miles and will be the only one from outside Pennsylvania.

Band members will travel in five chartered buses and will stay Wednesday night at the YMCA in downtown Philadelphia, with dining facilities. A guided tour of historic sites as well as shopping trips have been arranged for Wednesday afternoon.

Students will attend the movie, "My Fair Lady," Wednesday evening.

AFTER the parade, the band will have lunch then board the buses for the trip home, expecting to arrive around 10 p. m. Thursday.

The cost of the trip will be $2,159, with $1,973 for transportation and $546 for lodging. With the exception of an appeal for trading stamp books, from which the band mothers will receive approximately $250, no public solicitation of funds has been made.

Band members themselves earned $1,758 by selling candy. The remainder will be provided with proceeds from various projects of the band and the band mothers.

Named by Maola to serve as chaperones on the trip were Dr. and Mrs. Charles R. Waggoner, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Standley, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Duke, Mr. and Mrs. Winston Myers, the Rev. Albert Rodenhause, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Mrs. Charles Deshler and Mr. and Mrs. James Smith. Chaperones for the trip will meet at the Waggoner home on McKinnon Ave. Sunday at 8:30 p. m.

MRS. SMITH, a registered nurse, makes all out-of-town trips with the band.

Mrs. Maola and son, David, the band's mascot, will also make the trip.

Each band member will provide funds for his meals and other incidentals. The chaperones voted to pay for all their expenses.

Maola advised the group that raincoats, recently purchased by the organization, would arrive in time for the trip.

He said the band will march in the East Liverpool Christmas parade Nov. 27; hold a rehearsal on Nov. 28, and perform during half-time at the Pittsburgh Steelers-St. Louis Cardinals football games at Pitt Stadium in Pittsburgh Nov. 29.

Chaperones named to accompany the band to the Pittsburgh game include Mr. and Mrs. Guy Looman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schell, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Schiedmiller, Mr. and Mrs. Clare Manypenny, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Goodman and Mrs. Smith.

MRS. WAGGONER, president, conducted business when reports were given by chairmen. Mrs. George Fletcher announced that 125 trading stamp books had been donated.

The association is currently selling Christmas candy and orders may be placed with Mrs. Deshler, Mrs. Myers, Mrs. Waggoner or Mrs. William D. Martin.

A report on the recent rummage sale was given by Mrs. Roland Dingey. Mrs. Rodenhause led devotions.

The social hour was held in the gymnasium where hand-craft items and candles were displayed for sale. The social committee served refreshments to about 75.

The buffet table was centered with a Thanksgiving scene highlighting the colors of gold and brown and featuring pilgrim figures. Bright yellow tapers and a linen cloth of green on white was used.

The next meeting will be in January on a date to be announced.

Drifting Auto Strikes Home

An Oak St. home was damaged slightly Wednesday night when struck by an auto that drifted from a parking place, police reported.

The mishap caused cracks and dents in a door facing on property at 637 Oak St. owned by George F. McCullough of Forsyth Pl., officers said. The home was struck by a 1962 sedan when John H. Diddle, 403 MacIntosh Rd., had parked on Oak St., officers reported.

The mishap was timed at 8:40 at a point 50 feet south of Minerva St. There were marks on the front bumper of the auto, but otherwise it was undamaged. Diddle told police he had parked his car on Oak St., placing it in gear.

Two hit-skip crashes also were reported last night. A 1964 model convertible driven by Claude S. Reed Jr., 20, of 617 Virginia Ave., Midland, was damaged on the left rear in a hit-run mishap at 11:05 p. m. on Broadway 20 feet north of E. 3rd St.

Reed told police he was halted behind another car on Broadway when the unidentified auto, rounding the turn from E. 3rd to Broadway, came left of center, hit his car and continued without stopping.

The other hit-skip crash was timed at 8 last night on the Community Parking Lot at E. 6th and Walnut Sts.

The collision damaged a parked 1964 sedan owned by the Smith Heating Co., 712 Main St., Wellsville. Two witnesses told police they saw a 1958 auto back into the Wellsville car and then drive away. Police were given a description of the other car and a license number which they said showed it was registered to a resident of R. D. 4.

Out Of The Air

By RICHARD K. DOAN
Projected Ratings

It was a natural step from computerized projection of vote returns to computerized projection of TV ratings — and at least one of the networks has taken it.

A highly placed official of the network disclosed that ratings data are being fed in large quantities into computers to produce precise estimates of where the network will stand competitively as far ahead as next March.

THE NETWORK executive disclosed network ratings which he described as averages for next March produced by the process, but said he could not permit them to be published or even disclose the identity of the network.

He said ratings were being processed "60 ways to kingdom come" in the computers to provide guidance in strategic program planning.

Inquiry at the other two networks as to whether they were utilizing computers in ratings research and attempting to project ratings drew contrasting responses.

"I THINK it's very funny," one research executive commented. "We figure our relative standings of the networks 13 weeks in advance, but we do it by hand."

"Of course, we're not always right — but neither would the computers be if you fed them the same information."

He said this was the second year such computations had been done.

"We could project six months in advance if we knew what specials were going to be on, and things like that," he ventured.

He confessed the reported use of computers, however, gave him an idea he might pursue.

At the other network a researcher was so guarded he would not even say, with guaranteed anonymity, whether computers were being used there to process ratings information. He did say his shop was "not attempting to predict future ratings."

ABC's midseason program casualties probably will be "Outer Limits" and "Mickey."

"Wagon Train," contrary to some rumors now afloat, is not slated for a January fadeout.

Present planning calls for "Shindig," which precedes Mickey Rooney's new comedy series on Wednesday nights, to be expanded to a full hour, absorbing the "Mickey" time.

"Outer Limits," which leads off ABC's Saturday night parade, would be replaced by a new hour series, "The Family Is King," featuring the King Sisters and their numerous singing relatives.

Both program shifts would take place in mid-January.

"OUTER LIMITS," shifted this fall from Monday nights to Saturdays, hasn't fared well against CBS's Jackie Gleason and NBC's "Flipper" and "Mr. Magoo."

Rooney has had rough sledding of several sorts. The ratings have been poor and the reviews downbeat. On top of this, Sammee Tong, the show's featured supporting actor, was found dead in Hollywood three weeks ago.

Seventeen episodes of the series had been filmed with him. There will now be no need to find a replacement.

"Shindig," a sort of rock 'n' rollers' hoedown, has been a big click with the teen set. As an hour show, it will be designed competitively to cut into CBS's Dick Van Dyke audiences as well as "Beverly Hillsbillies."

THE KING FAMILY set itself up for a weekly outing by making a big hit in an ABC special last Aug. 23. The network said it got 38,000 letters from viewers applauding the show and asking for more.

Interestingly, ABC will have — with Lawrence Welk and "Hollywood Palace" following the King family show — an all-musical Saturday night.

The two projected ABC program shifts, assuming they represent the extent of midseason shuffling, are in considerable contrast to the network's predicament a year ago.

Last fall "100 Grand," an attempted big money giveaway revival, stumbled at the starting gate, Jerry Lewis' big Saturday night revue was almost as instant a debacle, and the network at this date a year ago also was negotiating its way out of such entrees as "Jamie McPheters" and "Channing."

City Man Re-Enlists

In Navy Reserve Duty

Petty Officer Stanley Tucker, 100 Center St., has re-enlisted and was sworn in recently at the U. S. Naval Reserve Training Center at Steubenville. He is a boatswain's mate second class.

Tucker had two and a half years prior Naval service and served in the European Theater during World War II with the amphibious boat pool.

This will be his first tour of duty with the reserve center and he will provide seamanship training to recruits in the operation of small boats, navigation, entering and leaving port, storing cargo, and handling ropes and lines.

He has been employed by the Crucible Steel Co. of Midland, for six years service with that firm. He is married and has two children.

Elsa Ann Rubin Takes Post With Rochester University

Miss Elsa Ann Rubin, who received a master of science degree last June from Columbia University's Graduate School of Journalism, has been appointed assistant director of public relations at the University of Rochester, Rochester, N. Y.

Miss Rubin, who was valedictorian of her high school graduating class here in 1960, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herschel Rubin, 324 W. 4th St. She was graduated cum laude from Ohio State University in 1963 with a major in science and journalism. While a student there, she handled public and employee relations for Chemical Abstracts Service and was a geology laboratory technician. She spent last summer as science writer at the Institute of Man and Science in Rensselaerville, N. Y.

She is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Theta Sigma Phi, national women's journalism organization, and Kappa Tau Alpha, national journalism honorary.

While attending East Liverpool High School, she was a member of the National Honor Society, was a finalist in the national Merit scholarship competition, was president of the Science Club and served on the Keramos Echo staff. She won first prizes for chemistry at the Tri-State Science Fairs in 1959 and 1960.

While at Ohio State, she was active in the Honors program, being a member of the Honors Committee; was a member of Mirrors, sophomore women's honorary society; a member of Chimes, junior women's honorary; a science writer for the Lantern, campus publication; a member of the American Chemical Society, and participated in the president's scholarship program.

He urged the group to attend the Columbiana County Education Association dinner Dec. 1 at United and for members to promote their spring dinner at Franklin School.

A social hour was held. The next meeting will be Jan. 18 at 3:30 p. m. and there will be another March 22.

Suit Asks $30,000

LISBON — John Seroka of Salem filed suit for $30,000 in Common Pleas Court Wednesday against Phyllis L. Reynolds of R.D. 4, claiming injuries, loss of work and expenses as the result of a traffic collision Nov. 23, 1962, in Salem. Seroka was a passenger in a car he said was struck by the defendant's auto.

Patrolman Cited For Saving Life

The Ohio Highway Patrol Wednesday honored a patrolman from the Winterville barracks for his part in saving a motorist's life last month near Wells-ville.

Patrolman Donald J. Pearce was cited by Col. Anson B. Cook of Columbus, patrol superintendent, for applying mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to Andrew L. Murray of Cleveland after an accident at Flagpole Hill below Yellow Creek.

Mr. Murray later died. A MacLean Funeral Home ambulance attendant applied artificial respiration and oxygen to the man when he arrived on the scene. The patrol report said Pearce found the injured man lying near his auto at the bottom of a 100-foot embankment Oct. 23. He gave the motorist resuscitation and helped restore the victim's breathing.

Prolonged Boom Faces Trouble

Europe Runs Into Wall Of Economic Difficulty

LONDON (AP) — Western Europe has run into a wall of economic difficulties in its long march toward unity. Its prolonged boom also seems heading for trouble.

Talk is even heard of a general slump in world trade from such men as Britain's new prime minister, Harold Wilson. Wilson will seek President Johnson's support when they meet next month for a radical new system of international credit that will allow a freer flow of money and goods.

There is immediate peril that Western Europe's two chief trading groups — the six-nation Common Market and the seven-nation European Free Trade Association — will break up because of actions by key members.

A longer-term peril lurks in the possibility that the European boom will play itself out. To safeguard themselves the nations might then adopt protectionist policies. As trade contracted markets shrank and unemployment spread, the Europeans and their trading partners would slide into a slump.

Already there have been ominous pointers.

In most industrial countries of West Europe, excepting West Germany and Sweden, imports are outstripping exports, leaving a scary trail of trade deficits.

A survey by Common Market economists recently forecast a tapering off of the average European growth rate from 5.5 per cent this year to 4 per cent in 1965.

If this, as the experts say they expect, coincides with a slowdown of American expansion after nearly four years of high riding, a contest for world markets may develop with ever-growing intensity.

In the Common Market, French President Charles de Gaulle recently threatened to walk out if the Germans did not come to terms with France soon on a common grain price. France, with cheap wheat, wants to sell more to her partners. West Germany's Christian Democratic government, with subsidized wheat farming and a general election next fall, does not want cheap wheat dumped on its doorstep.

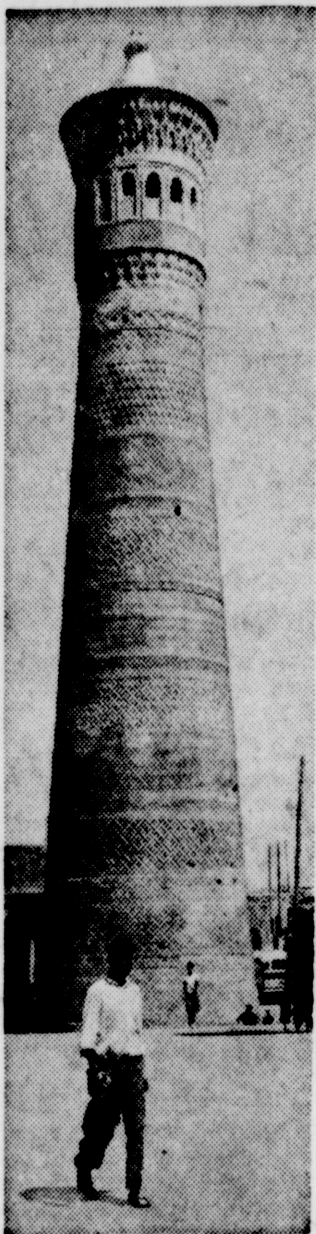

Britain's new Labor government took the drastic step of putting a surcharge on almost all manufactured imports while offering tax cuts to exporters. The aim was to bring earnings into line with spending and so head off bankruptcy.

It is clear that the specter of a slump haunts Wilson as it haunts the statesmen of EFTA nations meeting today in Geneva to discuss their future.

Wilson wants to apply to international transactions a sort of checking account and loan system like that used by domestic banks.

He hopes Johnson will back his idea for international talks leading to a world economic conference at summit level.

DEATH TOWER. — This Moslem minaret in Bukhara, Samarkand, U.S.S.R. was once used for executions. The condemned man would be placed in a sack, hauled to the top of the tower, tossed over the side.

T. E. Millsop Retires From Steel Posts

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Thomas E. Millsop, chairman of the Board of Directors and chief executive officer of National Steel Corp., has retired, and Paul H. Carnahan, vice chairman, has been named to succeed him in both posts.

In accepting Millsop's resignation, the board elected him honorary chairman and also elected him chairman of the executive committee. He also will continue to serve as a director.

National Steel is the parent firm of the Weirton Steel Co., where Millsop once was president.

Millsop reached the normal retirement age of 65 last Dec. 4 but in view of the top-level management changes he agreed to serve for an additional year.

Millsop had been an executive with National Steel for more than 30 years and its chief executive officer for the past seven years.

His entire career had been spent in the steel industry. When named president of Weirton Steel in 1936, he was the youngest man in the country to head a major steel company.

Likewise, Carnahan has been associated with the steel industry throughout his career and has served National Steel in various capacities for more than 30 years.

Carnahan, a native of Racine, Ohio, is 60. He joined National Steel in 1933 with Great Lakes Steel Corp. at Detroit.

He was elected president of National Steel in 1961 and advanced to vice chairman late last year.

Wellsville K. C. Sets Thanksgiving Party

The annual Thanksgiving party was discussed at a meeting of Wellsville Knights of Columbus Council 507 Tuesday night.

It will be a coverdish dinner Nov. 28 at 6:30 p. m. at the K. of C. home and will be held jointly with the Lady Knights.

Sam Amato, grand knight, presided.

Plans were made to attend a memorial service for deceased members next Tuesday night at East Liverpool Carroll Council 509.

Head Of Civil Service Unit Is Re-Elected

Ray W. Neidengard of Calcutta was re-elected president of the Columbiana County Chapter of the Ohio State Civil Service Employees Association at a meeting Tuesday night, with 30 attending at Lisbon Village Hall.

Others elected were Duane Kilmer of East Liverpool, vice president; Russell V. Phillips of Lisbon, secretary - treasurer, and William Hill of Salineville, Robert W. Sommers of East Liverpool and Leo Taugher of Salem, trustees.

Neidengard is an employee of the State Liquor Store here. New officers will be installed at a meeting Jan. 19. There will be no meeting in December.

A speaker from the Columbus Association office will be invited to the January session.

The grievance committee was instructed to act on several issues brought up at the meeting, and asked to report in January. Refreshments were served.

3rd Victim Claimed In Ohio Auto Crash

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A third person has died as the result of an automobile accident near Wapakoneta last Sunday.

The latest victim is Edward Wilson, 17, of near Dayton. He died Wednesday in Miami Valley Hospital. Edward R. Hader, 17, and William L. Patty, 20, both of Montgomery County, died earlier when the car, carrying six young persons, crashed into a utility pole.

Logue New Head Of Masonic Unit

Hollis A. Logue was elected worshipful master of the Riddle Masonic Lodge 315 Tuesday night at the Masonic Temple.

He succeeds Edwin R. Broadbent, who was named a trustee.

Other officers named were Samuel C. Blackburn, senior warden; Charles E. Allison, junior warden; Harold M. Peterson, treasurer; Frank B. Miller, secretary; Robert Kidd, senior deacon; Harvey Cottrill, junior deacon, and Dave Kennedy, tyler.

Lunch was served by a committee headed by Cottrill.

The officers will be installed Dec. 1.

Survives River Jump

Orioles' Robinson AL's MVP

BALTIMORE (AP) — Brooks Robinson, who was told as a youth he had a questionable future in baseball, is the American League's Most Valuable Player for 1964.

"This is the most wonderful thing that ever happened to me," Robinson said Wednesday night after his landslide victory was announced.

The Baltimore third baseman, whose heroics almost carried the Orioles to a pennant, drew 269 of a possible 280 points in the voting by a special 20-man committee of the Baseball Writers Association of America.

The only player named on all ballots, Robinson drew 18 first place votes. The other two went to Mickey Mantle, who sparked the New York Yankees' late drive to another pennant. Mantle finished with 171 points. A first-place vote was worth 14 points, with 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Elston Howard of the Yanks, last year's winner, finished third with 124 points. Rookie batting champ Tony Oliva of Minnesota was fourth with 99, followed by pitcher Dean Chance of Los Angeles, the Cy Young award winner, with 97.

Robinson, 27, topped American League third basemen in fielding for the fifth straight year. And to go with his spectacular glove work, he led the league with 118 runs batted in, finished second in hitting with a .317 mark, and slugged 28 homers.

"I felt that I had a pretty good chance but I never thought I'd win," Robinson said. "This is an award every player would like to win but few ever do."

As a high school student in Little Rock, Ark., 10 years ago, Brooks had doubts about his baseball future.

"I was told by various scouts and coaches that my arm was not good enough and that I couldn't run fast enough," Robinson recalled. "But I wanted to play."

As an 18-year-old, Brooks played 95 games of Class B ball in 1955 and then made his major league debut. He made several more trips to the minors, but appeared in games with the Orioles every year thereafter. He quickly became the darling of the fans, and sort of grew up with the new franchise.

Wolverine Backs Hail From Ohio

By BERNIE KENNEDY
ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Before the football season started, many observers at Michigan felt the Wolverines were actually a year away from being a power in the Big Ten.

But apparently the word never got to the players who have moved to seven victories in their first eight games and find themselves preparing for the championship game at Columbus this Saturday.

Curiously, Michigan's starting backfield is made up of four players from the Buckeye State.

Quarterback Bob Timberlake of Franklin has come a long way after "winning" a battle for the spot over three other hopefuls.

Timberlake, who got the nod in the Wolverines opening game with Air Force because of his experience, has become one of the greatest backs in Michigan history.

He has already gained 1,308 yards—546 on the ground and 762 through the air on 60 completions in 118 attempts.

Senior fullback Mel Anthony and sophomore speedster Carl Ward are both from Cincinnati. Anthony, who scored three touchdowns against Iowa last week, has gained 516 yards, while Ward has added 438 to the Wolverines' impressive total.

The fourth member of the backfield is another sophomore, Jim Detwiler of Toledo. Though slowed by a knee injury, Detwiler impressed many with his drive in the early games.

Michigan, which has not won the Big Ten title since 1950, continues to be one of the top rushing teams in the country. The Wolverines have gained 2,028 yards on the ground in their first eight games—an average of slightly more than 253 yards a contest.

But Timberlake's throwing to such ends as John Henderson and Steve Smith, as well as an occasional pitch to Detwiler has helped keep the defense honest.

Celtics Nip Hawks At Foul Line

A couple of Dead-Eye Dicks from the foul line were important games for Boston and Cincinnati in the National Basketball Association Wednesday night.

Sam Jones gave the Celtics a 100-97 victory over the St. Louis Hawks when his free throw with 10 seconds left provided what proved to be the winning point.

Two charity conversions by the Big O, Oscar Robertson, in the last 43 seconds gave the Royals a 92-90 triumph over the Los Angeles Lakers.

The Detroit Pistons made three out of four for new coach Dave DeBusschere by downing the Philadelphia 76ers 124-111 in the other scheduled NBA game.

The action kept Boston three games ahead of Cincinnati in the Eastern Division while the Hawks remained 1½ games back of Los Angeles in the Western Division.

Lerussi Selected Beavers' MVP; 200 Hear Dove At Booster Fete

By BOB DUFFY
Review Sports Editor

Senior Bob Lerussi, a center and defensive end, walked off with the most valuable player award for the 1964 season Wednesday night when the Beaver Local football squad was honored at the annual Boosters Club banquet in the school gymnasium.

Over 200 attended the dinner highlighted by seven individual trophy awards and a talk by Bob Dove, Hiram College grid coach and former Notre Dame All-American.

LERUSSI was the only double winner. In addition to the MVP award, he was named the best defensive lineman for the Beavers.

Six other Beaver gridders received awards presented by head coach Ed Stevens. The players were selected by a vote of the coaching staff.

Mike Lynn, a senior, was named the top offensive lineman while senior Larry Stiteler was picked as the best offensive back. Arnie McLaughlin, a junior, was selected as the team's No. 1 defensive back and the annual coaches' award went to Larry Ensinger, a senior who was playing his first year of football.

TROPHIES also were presented to the co-captains during 1964, Alan Copestick and Dale Moore. Both Copestick and Moore are juniors.

Dove, an All-American lineman at Notre Dame in 1941 and 1942, brought a wealth of football tales in a career as a player and coach spanning almost 30 years.

For the past three years, Dove has been head coach at Hiram College, but before that was in the pro ranks as an assistant coach with the Buffalo Bills and Detroit Lions. He coached college football at Detroit University after ending his playing career in the NFL.

DOVE played for the Chicago Rockets, St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit Lions and performed in the 1952 all-pro bowl.

The Canfield resident played at Notre Dame from 1940 to 1943 and in 1942 was named lineman of the year by the Washington Touchdown Club and participated in the East-West Shrine game.

Dove urged the Beaver Local gridders "not to forget the bookwork. 'Your life as a player is very short. If you don't have the academic qualifications you can't continue to college."

"And if you do play football in college, only a very small percentage of college players continue as professionals. That's why the bookwork is so important, you can't play football all your life," he added.

Dove, recalled many experiences as a college and pro player.

VARSITY letters were presented to 20 Beaver Local gridders. The backfield awards were presented by assistant coach Dick Parsons while Don Ross, line coach, awarded letters to the linemen.

Six receiving second year varsity awards included Allan Copestick, Norman Gaydos, Mike Lynn, Dale Moore, Lerussi and McLaughlin.

First year letters went to Gary Beagle, Art Doak, Larry Ensinger, Bill Green, Andy Hall, Bruce Karger, Jeff Lane, Wince McFarland, Allan Moore, Alan Porter, Dick Rudibaugh, Rich Shilling, Larry Stiteler and Harry Matheny.

RESERVE awards went to Bill Barnhart, Delphe Sias, Bill Croxall and Jim Weber were presented varsity manager awards.

Stevens pointed out the 10 lettermen will be returning next year including three two-year veterans.

Bob Fletcher, freshman coach, presented numerals to 25 members of the frosh team which compiled a 3-5 record.

Members of the eighth grade team and players on the seventh grade squad, which went undefeated this past season, were introduced.

Jim McLaughlin, president of the Boosters Club, was master of ceremonies, and introduced school officials along with visiting coaches Ray Dempsey of East Palestine, Tom McCall of Lisbon and Ed Oliver and Paul Barbuto of Southern Local.

Nebraska's Defense Is Nation's Best

NEW YORK (AP) — Unde-feated Nebraska continues to lead the nation's major colleges in total defense today. But the Cornhuskers' margin is its slimmest in the past four weeks.

This was disclosed in the latest football statistics compiled by the NCAA Service Bureau.

Nebraska has yielded an average of 152.4 yards to Auburn's 155.8. The Cornhuskers must limit Oklahoma to no more than 185 yards this Saturday to stay in front.

Florida continues to lead in forward pass defense with a 52.0 yards a game percentage. The Gators' nearest challenger is Kent State with 55.9. Then come Seaboard College with 67.1.

Notre Dame, the top-ranked team in The Associated Press poll, is also at the head of the class in rushing defense with a 63.3 yard average.

Mather, Bears' Aide, OK After Operation
CHICAGO (AP)—Chuck Mather, assistant coach of the Chicago Bears of the National Football League, was reported in good condition today after undergoing an emergency appendectomy. Mather was rushed to the hospital Tuesday night.

He coached at one time at Massillon and Leetonia High Schools in Ohio and later was head coach at the University of Kansas. He joined the Bears' staff in 1958.

Findlay To Meet Sam Houston In NAIA Playoffs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Sam Houston State, Lone Star Conference champions and owners of a perfect record with one game left, was named today as the fourth and last team for the NAIA football playoffs.

Sam Houston will play Findlay of Ohio, 9-1, Nov. 28 at Findlay, starting 1:30 p. m. EST.

Concordia of Minnesota, 9-0, will face Linfield of Oregon, 8-0-1, in the first playoff game this Saturday at Gargo, N.D.

Winners of the two playoff games will move into the NAIA Champion Bowl at Augusta, Ga., Dec. 12.

The four playoff teams filled the top four spots in this week's NAIA poll. Concordia was ranked first, Sam Houston second, Linfield third and Findlay fourth.

Saban Reinstates Star

Cookie Gets Second Chance At Buffalo After Apology

By MARVIN R. PIKE
Associated Press Writer
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Cookie Gilchrist, fired Tuesday from his $30,000 job as fullback for the American Football League's Buffalo Bills, was back on the payroll today after admitting he had been a bad boy.

He was placed on the waiver list two days ago because, Coach Lou Saban said, Gilchrist's behavior had been injurious to the morale of the Bills.

He has been in trouble with Buffalo police, missed some practice sessions and reportedly violated curfew rules.

But Wednesday night, the 29-year-old, 250-pound line-smasher stood before newsmen and said he had told Saban and his teammates earlier he was "truly ashamed" for the things "I have said and done."

Saban, absent from the news conference, released a statement in which he said he would give Gilchrist another chance.

"Because Cookie has asked the forgiveness of his teammates and admitted to me he has been 100 per cent wrong in incidents leading to his dismissal, I have reconsidered and will give him an opportunity to prove that he is part of the Buffalo Bills team."

Gilchrist, the AFL's leading ground-gainer, will be at practice today, Saban said.

The 10-year veteran of professional football, in his third season with the Eastern Division-leading Bills, wore a grey suit and heavy-rimmed glasses as he told reporters he had "criticized my teammates and my coaching staff—unjustly."

"I am sorry," he said.

He said he had asked his teammates to give him another chance because "I feel I had let them down."

He did not mention his play against the Boston Patriots Sunday, when the Bills suffered their first loss of the season after nine victories.

In that game, Gilchrist gained only 31 yards and was not as effective blocking for his passing quarterback, Jack Kemp, as he had been in the Bills previous games.

Shortly before Saban relented, Gilchrist appeared headed for the Oakland Raiders, one of three AFL teams that claimed him. It would have cost the Raiders $100, the waiver price, and they would have had to absorb his $30,000 contract.

Boston and the New York Jets also put in claims.

1,500 Help Joe DiMaggio Celebrate 50th Birthday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Joe DiMaggio shook hands with nearly every one of the 1,500 persons who jammed a hotel ballroom Wednesday night to honor the Yankee Clipper before his 50th birthday.

"I've never seen anything like it," said DiMaggio, who reaches the half-century mark Nov. 25.

He posed for pictures for two hours, delaying the program. The crush of the guests also helped postpone dinner.

The former New York Yankee great posed repeatedly with Mickey Mantle and Willie Mays. Mays played his first season with the then New York Giants in 1951, the year DiMaggio was ending his playing days across the Harlem River.

The four DiMaggio brothers were the group to catch attention. Three of them — Joe, Dom and Vince — were professional baseball players and major leaguers. The oldest, Tom, was a top semipro third baseman in San Francisco, but he had to help his father man the fishing boats to feed the nine DiMaggio children.

The celebrities in the Sheraton-Palace main ballroom came from coast to coast and represented every sport.

Almost all were famous men, but noticed in the crowd were former Yankee owner Del Webb, and San Francisco Giant top man Horace Stoneham.

Sportscaster Mel Allen was the master-of-ceremonies.

The gala celebration took place about one mile from Fisherman's Wharf, where DiMaggio's father worked from daybreak to past sunset in the boats. Now his next-to-youngest offspring, Joe, plans to be a director of Fisherman's Bank, which will be located on the wharf near where his father struggled to make a living from the sea.

Improvement Continues For Cager Who Lost Arm

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Bob Swaffar was a little dizzy, but managed to walk under his own steam to the therapy room for the first time Wednesday since his right arm was surgically rejoined Nov. 2.

And the 20-year-old Oklahoma State University basketball junior had some good news waiting for him when he got back to his room at University Hospital.

Athletic Director Henry Iba was waiting to tell him that physicians at the hospital are to decide Friday when Swaffar will be allowed to transfer to the Oklahoma State infirmary at Stillwater.

"It'll definitely be by next week," Iba said.

Swaffar is a one-year varsity letterman at Oklahoma State and was in line for starting center when his arm was torn off between the elbow and shoulder in a fast-spinning water-extractor machine at the athletic dorm laundry the night of Nov. 1.

Swaffar has been undergoing therapy on the arm for 10 days and doctors say circulation has been good in the re-implanted part of the arm and there is no sign of infection, still the greatest danger.

In a few months, Swaffar will undergo further surgery for realignment of the severed nerves. Until then he will have no way of knowing to what extent he can regain use of the arm.

Swaffar intends to resume work on his missed classes when he is taken to the college infirmary.

"I won't be able to catch up on all the classes, I'm sure. But I think I'll be able to salvage a couple of courses."

Palmer Out To Defend Money Title

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Danny Barbato is the envy of every golf-conscious kid in America. The 15-year-old youngster is caddy for Arnold Palmer as the Golden Boy of golf sets out to defend his 1964 money championship in today's opening round of the Cajun Classic.

"Be ready to go at seven sharp," Palmer told Danny Wednesday after finishing the pro-am tune-up for the $25,000 Cajun Classic—final tourney on the PGA trail this year.

Danny, still slightly overwhelmed at his assignment, nodded.

"I think he's going to do fine for me," said Palmer, who came here to prevent Jack Nicklaus from overhauling him in this year's derby.

Palmer didn't get Danny by chance. Danny's father, Luca Barbato, host pro at the Oak-bourne Country Club here, assigned the boy to the job.

"He's been so thrilled he can hardly sleep," said Luca.

Palmer and Nicklaus set the stage for their battle in the pro-am.

Each fired five-under-par 67s over the rolling, well-manicured course.

They shared honors for low score with four other pros — Gardner Dickinson Jr., Buster Cupit, Ken Still and Randy Glover. Each got a check for $179.16.

1,500 Help Joe DiMaggio Celebrate 50th Birthday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Joe DiMaggio shook hands with nearly every one of the 1,500 persons who jammed a hotel ballroom Wednesday night to honor the Yankee Clipper before his 50th birthday.

"I've never seen anything like it," said DiMaggio, who reaches the half-century mark Nov. 25.

He posed for pictures for two hours, delaying the program. The crush of the guests also helped postpone dinner.

The former New York Yankee great posed repeatedly with Mickey Mantle and Willie Mays. Mays played his first season with the then New York Giants in 1951, the year DiMaggio was ending his playing days across the Harlem River.

The four DiMaggio brothers were the group to catch attention. Three of them — Joe, Dom and Vince — were professional baseball players and major leaguers. The oldest, Tom, was a top semipro third baseman in San Francisco, but he had to help his father man the fishing boats to feed the nine DiMaggio children.

The celebrities in the Sheraton-Palace main ballroom came from coast to coast and represented every sport.

Almost all were famous men, but noticed in the crowd were former Yankee owner Del Webb, and San Francisco Giant top man Horace Stoneham.

Sportscaster Mel Allen was the master-of-ceremonies.

The gala celebration took place about one mile from Fisherman's Wharf, where DiMaggio's father worked from daybreak to past sunset in the boats. Now his next-to-youngest offspring, Joe, plans to be a director of Fisherman's Bank, which will be located on the wharf near where his father struggled to make a living from the sea.

Improvement Continues For Cager Who Lost Arm

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Bob Swaffar was a little dizzy, but managed to walk under his own steam to the therapy room for the first time Wednesday since his right arm was surgically rejoined Nov. 2.

And the 20-year-old Oklahoma State University basketball junior had some good news waiting for him when he got back to his room at University Hospital.

Athletic Director Henry Iba was waiting to tell him that physicians at the hospital are to decide Friday when Swaffar will be allowed to transfer to the Oklahoma State infirmary at Stillwater.

"It'll definitely be by next week," Iba said.

Swaffar is a one-year varsity letterman at Oklahoma State and was in line for starting center when his arm was torn off between the elbow and shoulder

in a fast-spinning water-extractor machine at the athletic dorm laundry the night of Nov. 1.

Swaffar has been undergoing therapy on the arm for 10 days and doctors say circulation has been good in the re-implanted part of the arm and there is no sign of infection, still the greatest danger.

In a few months, Swaffar will undergo further surgery for realignment of the severed nerves. Until then he will have no way of knowing to what extent he can regain use of the arm.

Swaffar intends to resume work on his missed classes when he is taken to the college infirmary.

"I won't be able to catch up on all the classes, I'm sure. But I think I'll be able to salvage a couple of courses."

Use Of 2 Special Liquids Helps Boat Maintenance

By JOHN BOHANNAN

The job of keeping an outboard in good condition at all times is greatly simplified by the use of two liquids, prepared by the engine manufacturers for specific purposes.

One liquid coats all inner surfaces to protect them from rust or corrosion. This is a sealer, to use at layup time.

The other liquid is a cleaner, for dislodging carbon, and can be used as a tune-up aid when putting the motor back into service.

There are several makes on the market, and your dealer can recommend those he thinks are best suited to your motor.

FOR OUR helpful hints on how to use the liquids, we'll pass on some suggestions made by Merlin Culver, who is distributor for outboard motors over a three-state area, a nationally-known outboard race driver in the pleasure boat classes and former president of the American Power Boat Association.

The northern boatman, planning to store his motor for the winter, will be interested in the sealer - type liquid. First, disconnect the fuel line, idle the motor while the boat is in the water and check your watch to see how long it takes to run all the fuel out of the carburetors. The engine should stop in about two minutes, although this may vary slightly among different makes and models.

Now, reconnect the fuel line, start the motor and keep it going until it is running smoothly. Shut off the motor and remove the cowl. Then pull the boat out of the water on the trailer, disconnect the fuel line, start the motor again and idle it for the length of time you have learned it takes to use up carburetor fuel, not to exceed two minutes.

The moisture remaining on the water pump impeller blades will keep them lubricated for that time, but no longer.

JUST BEFORE the end of the running time, pour in a couple of ounces of the sealer into the intake of each carburetor. This will stop the engine just as the bowls are out of fuel and seal the inner surfaces, protecting bearings, pistons, piston rings and cylinder walls during the lay-out period.

Drain fuel lines and tanks to avoid the formation of varnish. Drain the lower unit and check for presence of water. If only a few drops appear in the old oil, replace with fresh oil, replace hole plugs, put the motor cowl back in place and you're ready for storage.

A large amount of water indicates that the seal has broken and should be replaced by the dealer. He also can do the complete winterizing.

For a tune-up in preparation for a season in southern waters, launch the boat, remove the cowl and, with engine in gear, open the throttle to about 1000 rpm. Slowly, pour about two-thirds of a pint can of the engine cleaner liquid into carburetor intakes, then pour in the remainder of the can quickly enough to stall the motor.

Allow the motor to stand for 25 minutes, start it again and run it wide open for about a mile.

Stop and replace old spark plugs with new ones. The old plugs will be found to be badly fouled with particles of carbon dislodged from the combustion chamber and rings.

The old plugs can be cleaned and retained as spares.

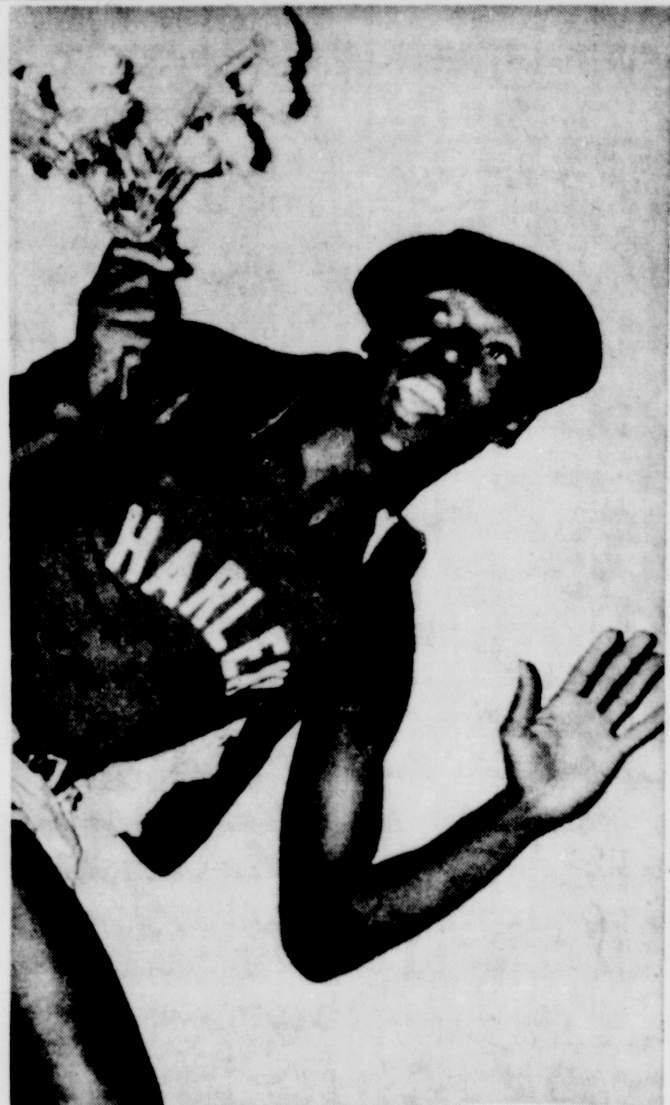

Questions And Answers

Q—Why do outboard motors require so many plug changes?

A—Because a two-cycle engine burns the oil in the fuel. This causes formation of carbon deposits. Merlin Culver predicts the next big breakthrough in the outboard field will be the use of closed - system pressure lubrication like that of four-cycle engines.

Q—Is it all right to use a leaded gasoline in a two-cycle outboard motor?

A—No. Leaded gas is another prolific source of carbon deposits. Use marine "white" gasoline whenever possible.

GOOSE POWELL, court magician, will lead the Hiram Wizards against a Wellsville All-Star team in a benefit basketball game Monday at the Beacom Memorial Gym.

Harlem Wizards Play At Wellsville Monday

The Harlem Wizards, featuring "Goose" Powell, court magician, will meet a Wellsville all-star basketball team in a benefit game Monday night at 8 at Beacom Memorial Gym in Wellsville.

The game will be sponsored by the Wellsville High School Athletic Association and proceeds will be used to help defray the $1,100 cost of accident insurance for members of the Tiger football team the past season.

There will be a preliminary game at 7 between seventh and eighth grade teams from Daw Junior High School.

Don Lowe, faculty manager, said the admission will be 50 cents for students and $1 for adults.

Boy Injured Against Dash When Auto Halts

A 3-year-old East End boy, injured when he fell against the dashboard of the family car as it stopped suddenly, was in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital.

Thomas Redmond, son of Mrs. Jean Redmond, 1710 1/2 Pennsylvania Ave., suffered a possible fracture of the jaw and lacerations of the lip. His mother said she was driving on 6th St. when a car in front stopped and she had to brake suddenly.

Junior Editors Quiz on Caterpillars

QUESTION: How does a caterpillar become a butterfly?

ANSWER: This happens through "metamorphosis," or change from one bodily state to another. The change from tadpole to frog is an example. But the life story of the butterfly is still more remarkable. Butterflies' eggs are generally laid singly or in groups on the underside of the leaves (1). These leaves serve as food for that queer little animal, the caterpillar, which emerges from each egg. Caterpillars may seem a bit repulsive, but are most interesting to watch and study. They have heads with chewing mouthparts which can bite into leaves. Underneath are six small legs. Further down are a set of false or unjointed legs. Caterpillars have an amusing trick of standing on these and rearing up the front of the body (2). After eating enormously and changing its skin several times, the caterpillar becomes a "pupa" or "chrysalis." A hard case forms around it, generally hanging from a twig or leaf (3). Inside, an amazing change takes place: the body becomes soft, like cream, and inside this a differently-shaped insect begins to form. Finally, the shell of the pupa cracks and out comes that glorious creature, a butterfly.

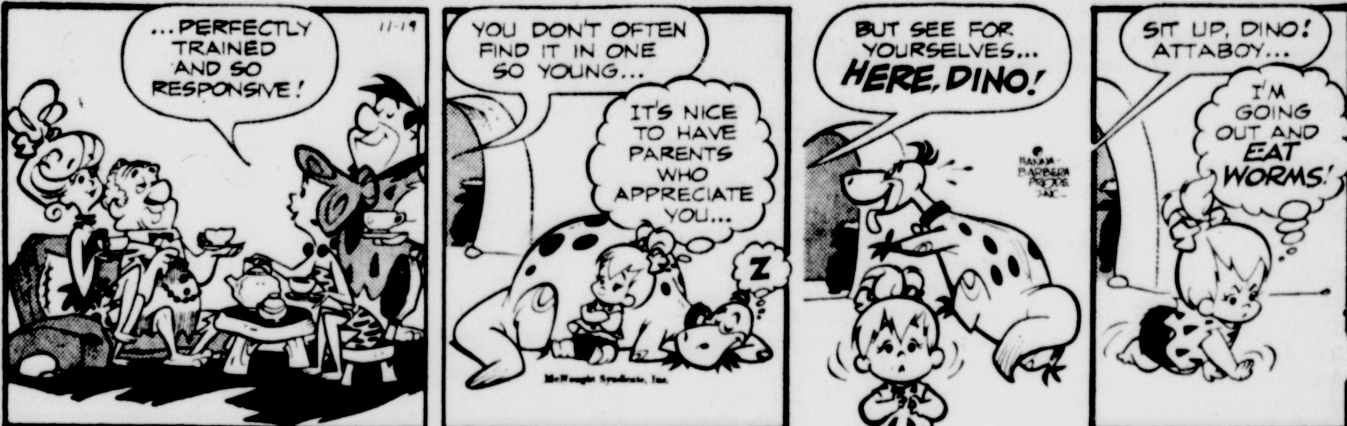

FOR YOU TO DO: Color the beautiful monarch butterfly a rich red orange. And keep an eye open for a pupa hanging from a leaf or twig. Take it inside and watch what happens after awhile.

Bringing Up A Family

By DR. GARRY MYERS

Discipline Should Be Used Correctly

Some articles and books which have advised the parent against using physical pain to curb the young child have also advised this parent that when the youngster provokes her beyond her endurance she is justified in giving him a smack. The mother who wrote the fol-Dr. Garry Myers lowing condemns herself for whacking her two young children when they vex her beyond her endurance.

"Please help me, I don't know what to do. I have two boys, aged six and five. They have never gotten on together since the day the second was born. And I do not believe it is jealousy. The oldest has no reason to be jealous of the younger. They continually fight, bicker and torment each other.

"THE OLDER boy is an overly intelligent boy, also overly large and strong for his age. He has an extremely violent temper. He will threaten with any object handy. This morning it was a nail file, after we had, not more than an hour before, had a conversation on trying to be kind and nice to the other. But he erupts with physical violence. He bullies and hurts his younger brother, who incidentally asks for it many times by just provoking a fight.

"I believe my own attitude has an awful lot to do with it, as I have quite a loud and violent temper of my own. I try at times to control it, but when they get the best of me, which I know I should never let show, I react by striking them. I know, as I write, I am saying that things I do are just what they do, except I use a belt on the reverse side, and they use anything they can find.

"I have never had courage or nerve enough to ask for help, but now I must. God help me, these boys are wonderful children, and with my influence or something, they are becoming violent, harmful citizens, and before they commit some type of crime against society, one of us, I know not who, or all of us, must be helped."

MY REPLY in part: I don't think your problem with yourself and those fine little boys is as hopeless as you suppose. Jealousy in that older boy and his violent anger at his provoking younger brother are to be expected. This older boy was the center of the world till the younger came along and the older one has never found a desirable escape from this jealousy. Nor have you found ways to curb his violence toward his little brother. Indeed, you have not found ways to cultivate desirable inhibitions in this older boy at any time, it seems.

When you find a conflict between them approaching violence separate them for a period of at least half an hour. Center your attention on a program of teaching each boy to respect "no", when they are not quarreling, in everyday situations in which the other boy is not involved.

You may have to use that belt sometimes to this end but your bare flat hand applied to the child's bare thigh should suffice. If you have a consistent plan you won't need to feel angry when a smack is necessary. If you wait till you are "mad" you may not be fit to give it or the child to profit from it.

While you should not let the elder lord it over the younger or harm him, you also should restrain the younger from imposing on the rights and possessions of the older. Often the younger may be the aggressor, provoking the elder to wrath.

AS SOON as you can make a quiet "no" effective, even a spanking may not be needed. Assignment of the younger to sit unamused in a chair where you can see him for twenty minutes may suffice. With a few matters settled you should find ample time to enjoy these youngsters, reading to them, letting them take turns at choosing what you read, making things with them, having fun with them.

Help each lad to cultivate some playmates of his own age. Aim, as far as possible, to help each child enjoy as many pleasures and feel as worthwhile as the other and to cultivate some playmates of his own age.

Vi-Lar Kadettes Presented 188 Awards For Activities

Members of the Vi-Lar Kadettes drill and marching group have shared 188 awards for their accomplishments during 1964.

Trophies in the various categories included, one-year membership, presented to 21; two-year membership, eight; special junior parade championship medals, 16; certificate of achievement diplomas, 71; Kadettes to receive unit Vi-Lar medals, 30; special award medal for parade championships at LaCroft, Chester, Highlandtown and Steubenville, 41; most tickets sold for the Booster Club's car wash, to Ronnie Cooke.

The presentations were made at the second annual awards assembly dinner Saturday night at the Calcutta fire hall.

Larry Myers, who is home on furlough from Ft. Knox, Ky., was master of ceremonies. Guests included Mrs. Milton Pelley, Mrs. Bess Myers and Mrs. Eliza Myers, grandparents of the owners of the Larry & Vicki Myers studio.

The Kadettes performed several of their award-winning precision drills.

A large bass drum was presented to the Kadettes from Homer Higgins by the Vi-Lar Booster Club, comprised of parents of the Kadettes. Myers accepted for the Kadettes.

Mrs. Beverly McKinney, a registered nurse, received an award for traveling with the group on all parades. Gifts were presented to the directors, Larry and Vicki Myers.

A catered banquet was served and tables were decorated in aqua and white and the centerpiece, an arrangement of tinted aqua and white mums, was presented to Mrs. Eliza Myers, 94, oldest Vi-Lar booster. The flowers were presented by Mrs. Martha Dingess.

Trophies won by the group this year were on display and also a scrapbook compiled by Mrs. Gloria Watson, historian. Two large dolls, attired as Kadettes, flanked both sides of the trophy display. Tom Snow gave the invocation.

Mrs. Jo Ann Hilliard and Mrs. Jane Higgins were in charge of the dinner committee; Mrs. Gayle Merriman and Mrs. Lulu Rigdon, decorating, and Mrs. Winston Myers, reservations. Al Hissam is president of the Booster Club.

To Hold The Weightline, Think Slim

How many of you who reduced this past summer have kept the weight off? The real secret of holding the weightline is your attitude toward eating and exercise. If you like that svelte feeling, nobody could pay you to go back to over-eating!

At this point you may counter with, "Do I always have to diet?" Isn't that confusing the issue? From now on the choice is not between continuing to diet and regaining the lost poundage. With a little judicious calorie curbing and a modest amount of exercise, you can keep slim. You probably reduced in order to look better. But the greatest dividend is how much better you feel with less weight.

ATTITUDE is everything! The person who lives to eat always puts food first. To her way of thinking, life is too short to give up any of her favorite foods. . . so the pounds pile on. Slowly but surely the excess poundage changes her very way of life. She graduates to the larger sizes and loses interest in buying new clothes. She gives up dancing and other activities she used to love. Her interests narrow down and she comes to regard eating as her sole remaining pleasure.

When you honestly prefer to look and feel slim, this attitude determines your actions. You certainly do not feel put-upon at turning down overly rich fare. You choose to be right weight.

At the finish of a reducing regime the best plan is to increase your calories only gradually. Immediately after a reducing period your metabolism is in low gear and your system is physiologically predisposed to gain. This being true, you do have to be on your guard. Keep tabs on the scales. Set a two-pound limit. When the pointer shows a two-pound gain, take off that two pounds. Your aim now is to establish your weight at this lower level.

EXERCISE can be of enormous help. A small amount of physical activity can step up your calorie requirements. Also, toned muscles rebuff the fat. Get the exercise habit.

The same good food habits that helped you to slim down will enable you to control your weight. Once you sell yourself on the idea that the protective way of eating is the best possible plan, you won't want to go back to fattening food habits. With this attitude, keeping slim will be a natural.

Man, 25, Makes 160-Foot Dive; Gets Headache

NEW YORK (AP) — A 25-year-old man made a 160-foot dive from the Brooklyn Bridge into the East River today.

After the crew of a police launch picked him out of the water, his only complaint was of a "slight backache."

The jumper identified himself as Marvin B. Holleman, Houston, Tex.

He tipped off police by phone shortly before he jumped at 1:15 a.m. The first two policemen to reach the scene near the center of the bridge tried to talk the man out of leaping.

"I have no job," he told them just before he let go of a cable.
